

Fires Rage

OAS Resumes Terror Wave

(Times News Services)

ALGIERS—The European Secret Army renewed its terror campaign here today after a seven-day truce, mowing down Moslems, burning down the main building of Algiers University and setting fire to the town hall and police station in a suburb.

Three phosphorous bombs started a fire in the science and medicine building of Algiers' University. Algeria's main seat of learning.

The blaze was brought under control two hours after it started. The main building, with its laboratories and libraries, was destroyed, but the blaze was kept from spreading to adjacent buildings.

It was the most spectacular city fire in the Secret Army's efforts to turn Algeria into "scorched earth" before the Moslems take over an independent Algeria this summer.

In the afternoon police reported the town hall and police station of the El Biar suburb were set afire.

Earlier today, European Terrorists struck at groups of Moslems with pistol and machine-guns attacks, killing four. Two post offices were robbed.

Ten Secret Army men in paratroop uniforms Wednesday night set fire to the accounts departments of a post office. They also planted two plastic charges.

HIT TERRORISTS

In the western city of Oran, never affected by the truce, police announced that seven Secret Army men were killed and five captured Wednesday. Troops backed by armor sealed off the centre of the city while police searched house-to-house for a clandestine radio.

The renewed terrorism followed the lifting of week-long truce Tuesday midnight, which marked the apparent collapse of efforts to reach a reconciliation between the Secret Army, which violently opposes Algerian independence, and the Moslem-led executive ruling Algeria until the July 1 self-determination referendum.

In the first attack, police said, Europeans in a speeding car machine-gunned a group of Moslem workers in the Hussen-Day suburb, killing three.

The fourth victim, in a separate attack, was a Moslem newspaper vendor.

REACH IMPASSE

The Secret Army announced the ending of the week-old truce in a pirate radio broadcast.

The announcer, who identified himself as the high command spokesman, said negotiations between representatives of the Moslem and European communities had reached an impasse.

"We are again taking up war—particularly in the economic field," the announcer said.

He advised women, children and older Europeans to leave Algeria to "free the men for the scorched earth policy."

'Lost' for Seven Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—A man who disappeared seven years ago turned up Wednesday before a federal grand jury investigating his relations with Teamsters Union president James Hoffa.

He is David Probst, a former St. Louis lawyer who set up a taxi business in Indianapolis in 1954 with money furnished by Hoffa.

There was no immediate word on where Probst had been since he disappeared June 6, 1955. He refused to talk to reporters.

VETERAN WRITER ASSESSES CAMPAIGN

Ottawa Observers See Liberal Win

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

(Mr. MacLeod, political analyst of UPI, is a veteran member of the Ottawa press gallery and has filed here with his current assessment of the 1962 federal election campaign.)

OTTAWA (UPI)—It is generally recognized here that the June 18 election, now only 10 campaigning days away, could be a political upset of earthquake proportions.

Short of willingness to commit themselves to definite forecasts of the final results, Parliament Hill political observers are in wide agreement upon the proposition that Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and the members of his conservative cabinet are fighting with their backs to the wall.

It is conceded that the Diefenbaker administration, which swept into power spectacularly in 1958 with a record landslide victory of 208 for the 265 Commons seats, could go out the same way.

Main source of disagreement among those who are predicting Diefenbaker's defeat is on the issue of whether any opposition party will achieve a clear working majority.

BALANCE OF POWER

Some observers believe that while the Liberals, under Lester B. Pearson, former Canadian minister of external affairs and winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, will capture the largest block of seats, the balance of power will be held by the two so-called "splinter" parties, the New Democrat socialist party and the Social Credit monetary reform group.

The main body of opinion still favors a straight win by one of the old-line parties. But the odds are moving steadily from the Conservatives in favor of the Liberals.

Since the campaign opened six weeks ago, Diefenbaker's planned offensive has never been able to get off the

2 Executed —Jouhaud Still Waits

PARIS (AP)—Two Secret Army killers were executed at dawn today—the first to be sent before a firing squad—but former General Edmond Jouhaud remained in the death row he had shared with them.

The fate of Jouhaud, 57, deputy commander of the underground terrorist army, still rested with President de Gaulle. There was an indication de Gaulle would spare his life.

Southeast of Paris at Fort du Trou d'Enfer (Hell Hole Fort) rifle volleys followed by two pistol shots—the customary coup de grace—rang out at 4:12 a.m. They brought death to Albert Dovecar, 37, a former sergeant in the Foreign Legion, and Claude Pieglis, 27, a civilian.

Dovecar and Pieglis refused blindfolds as they faced the firing squad.

"Aim at the heart," shouted Pieglis. Just before the shots rang out he cried: "Vive l'Algérie Française" (Long live French Algeria).

"Vive l'Autriche" (Austria)! "Vive la Legion!" Dovecar shouted.

Dovecar and Pieglis stabbed to death Police Commissioner Roger Gavouy in Algiers a few weeks before Jouhaud openly turned traitor as a leader of the abortive generals' revolt in April, 1961.

Jouhaud was captured last March and condemned to death.

The French cabinet discussed Jouhaud's case at a meeting Wednesday. A spokesman said de Gaulle told the cabinet men and events should be judged from the viewpoint of the nation's higher interests. This was generally construed as an indication that the president was leaning toward sparing Jouhaud.

It was his third standing room-only crowd in as many nights, following up successful meetings at Glace Bay, N.S. and Peterborough, Ont.

He made a plea for the re-election of Douglas Fisher in Port Arthur riding and the victory of Ted Freeman, NDP royal commission on a health candidate in Liberal-held Fort William.

Mr. Douglas said President Kennedy is facing "the bitter cratic Party."

Rusk Going to Berlin During Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the first time since taking office, Secretary of State Dean Rusk will pay a visit to Berlin during a 10-day European trip later this month, the state department announced today.

One of the main purposes of Rusk's trip is to discuss differences in allied policy and cold war tactics that have cropped up lately.

However, state department spokesman Lincoln White said he would not call it a "fence mending" mission.

Using $ As Excuse For Profit

MAGOG, Que. (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today "drastic action" may be taken by the government against any corporation taking advantage of the recent devaluation of the dollar to raise its prices in Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker, addressing a luncheon rally here, did not say what kind of action is being considered.

He said there are "some greedy people" who are using the dollar devaluation as "an excuse to raise their prices."

"I don't want any group—powerful as it may be—to think that they can use an action taken for the benefit of all Canada for their own advantage," he said.

He said government action will be "as effective as it will be drastic."

If this sort of thing is going on, he said, action will be taken "in the next few days."

Price Hiked By Third Oil Firm

A third oil company entered the Victoria gasoline price increase scene today.

Royalite Oil Co. Ltd. announced that its price to dealers had been increased by seventh-tenths of a cent a gallon—the same as the boost announced Wednesday by Texaco Canada Ltd. and British American Oil Co.

The Victoria increases are in line with general nationwide increases announced by the firms.

Imperial Oil Ltd., Shell Oil of Canada Ltd., Home Oil Ltd. and Standard Oil of B.C. Ltd. all with outlets in Victoria, have not yet committed themselves to price rises, although Shell hiked its Vancouver area prices by one cent Tuesday.

However, people in the industry—both distributors and retail dealers—expected that the remaining firms would follow suit within a few days.

AWAIT NEW PRICES

Dealers said that retail prices would go up at least the amount of the wholesale increase immediately stocks of gasoline at new prices were received.

Majority of Texaco, B.A. and Royalite stations have already posted new prices ranging from as low as 45.6 cents for regular gasoline to 50.1 cents for premium.

In many cases, in order to keep gasoline out of the 50-cent price bracket and because only the latest model pumps register higher than 49.9 cents, service stations are trimming the better than 4-cent difference.

WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE DONE?

WHITE ROCK, S.D. (UPI)—Farmer Norman Doll had only seconds to decide.

Doll, father of 10, was planting a field at his farm near fire Wednesday. His son and a neighbor girl were seated on the bank of a creek, dangling their feet in the stream.

He heard cries and glanced over toward the creek. The bank had given way, dropping the two children into the water.

In the stream, swollen to 7-foot depth by heavy rains, Doll saw his son, Dennis, 11, and a neighbor girl, Judy Lehman, 14, struggling for their lives.

Doll never hesitated.

He raced to the stream, dived into the water and swam to the girl. The farmer towed her to safety.

Then Doll returned to the stream for his son. But the swift-moving water had closed over the boy's head and swept his body down stream.

Jerry drowned.

the Coconut Grove then took the former girl friend of Frank Sinatra to a Sunset Strip nightspot.

Fisher said he had dated Miss Prowse three times and described her as "a wonderful girl, we're great friends."

On his plans for divorce, Fisher said attorney Louis Nizer, counsel for both himself and Miss Taylor, had advised that Fisher file for divorce while he is appearing in Nevada this summer.

Fisher will establish residence while appearing at Sinatra's Cal Neva Lodge in Lake Tahoe and also at Las Vegas, a friend said.

"I'll file so Liz can counterfile and win on grounds of mental cruelty," Fisher explained. He said that in this way Miss Taylor would be able to remain in Europe and emphasized that he was going through with the first filing as "the only solution."

CLAREMONT, N.C.—Burke Grant has resigned as the only police officer in this town of 750 population.

He called it quits after the board of commissioners wanted him to haul garbage and cut the town's grass. Grant said he already had enough duties. These included:

Reading water meters, checking the town pumps each morning, doing some street repairing and hauling gravel for the streets.

Grant's salary was $74.50 a week.

ST. ALBAN'S—Bachelor Charlie Hand, 41, is getting tired of having women phone him to ask for advice on birth control and family planning.

The trouble began when a post office official notified Hand that his number had been changed.

The phone immediately started ringing.

It turned out that the family planning clinic here had the same number.

"Mothers ring me all day. Some don't seem to believe me when I try to explain that it's a bachelor flat with no family planning department," Hand complained.

"I wish they would stop pestering me. I can't give any advice on family planning."

WOONSOCKET, R.I.—A junior crime wave of adult proportions was reported by Woonsocket police to have been solved Wednesday with the arrests of three youths, 13 to 14 years old. They were alleged to have committed T2 thefts and acts of vandalism in which losses totalled thousands of dollars.

As the youths were being led from the police station, after questioning, to be taken to family court, a policeman noticed a bulge in one of the boy's pockets.

But came a small transistor radio belonging to one of the sergeants who had questioned the boy.

MOSCOW—Guy Burgess, British diplomat who defected to Russia in 1951, indicated today he is living under communism on money resulting from capitalist-type investments.

Burgess returned here Wednesday from a six-week vacation in the Soviet Union. In an interview he enjoyed a laugh over questions raised last month in the British Parliament which confirmed that he had emigrant status and was able to have money transferred to Russia.

"I really have no idea what I have got my money in. Everything is looked after by my trustees. In any case I have never been interested in money."

He said that before the war he bought Rolls Royce shares "as I could see a war was coming and it was the next best thing to buying arms shares—they paid a handsome profit."

He said after the war he bought gold shares because "inflation was a certainty. I also did well out of that."

Chinese Reds Order Land Back to Farmers

PEKING (Reuters)—The Chinese Communists Wednesday ordered a review of capital construction plans and told builders and factories to return land to farmers.

An editorial in the People's Daily, organ of the Communist party, called on administrators to make new surveys of land requisitioned for building. Builders' sheds should be razed.

Japan to Hike China Trade

HALIFAX (CP)—The Japanese ambassador to Canada said today there are signs that Japanese trade with Communist China will increase.

Nibuhiko Ushiba said in an interview China was once a traditional market for Japan but trade between the two Asian countries now is small. Japan does not formally recognize the Communist government.

He said he does not think Canada's wheat sales to Communist China are a threat to Japan's trade chances.

'SPLIT THE VOTE' PLAN CHARGED BY HELLYER

TORONTO (CP)—Paul Hellyer, Liberal candidate in Toronto Trinity, said today the campaign of an 11th-hour Independent candidate in the riding is financed "entirely by the Conservative party."

He said Peter D'Agostino, a laundry operator, filed nomination papers shortly before the deadline on Monday afternoon "to split the vote."

Mr. D'Agostino denied this. He said his aim is to represent the Italian-Canadians in the riding.

He was a Liberal supporter until 1957 when he joined the Conservatives. Mr. D'Agostino said he decided to stand as an Independent after he was passed over at nomination time.

ground. Instead, Diefenbaker has been forced to stay on the defensive. He has had to justify cumulative budget deficits of more than $3 billion a forced devaluation of the Canadian dollar which previously had commanded a premium, and a slowdown in the growth rate of the nation's economy.

CUSHIONED RECESSION

Diefenbaker has replied that his administration's policies of lavish spending has cushioned the admitted recession which the nation has been experiencing and have opened the way to a renewed era of expansion.

But his arguments have been weakened by unemployment in excess of a half-million which has persisted into the summer months of normally high activity, while a spectacular stock market crash has contradicted the Conservative claims of a strong economy.

"However, our navy today is equipped to stop these subs before they surface and fire missiles against us."

Mr. Gregory said the navy gets only 18 per cent of the defence budget, "a very poor slice of the pie for our first line of defence."

ADVERSE BREAKS

Against these adverse breaks in the luck of the campaign, the Diefenbaker government has had the advantage of the large head start with which it entered the race. At dissolution of the last parliament, it held 203 seats. That means it could lose 70 and still remain in power.

In addition, the administration could boast of very solid goodwill among the farmers of the western prairies. This it had earned by its policy of large-scale wheat sales to Communist China, which had solved the national problem of grain surpluses and made it possible for western growers to produce up to capacity once more.

To many Parliament Hill observers the campaign has the atmosphere of the 1958 election when a Liberal sweep toppled former Conservative Prime Minister R. B. Bennett from power after five years in office. The main difference that observers profess to note is that a strong measure of public goodwill and respect toward Bennett was apparent throughout the campaign and restrained it from turbulent excesses.

By contrast Diefenbaker has been meeting, they say, with far greater personal hostility.

Pearson Accepts PM's Denial But Insists $600 Million 'Lost'

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

STRATHROY, Ont.—Liberal Leader Lester Pearson Wednesday night partially backtracked from his earlier suggestion that foreign aid had been needed to prop up the Canadian dollar.

"The Prime Minister says there has not been a loan and of course I accept his word," Mr. Pearson told an election rally attended by some 1,500 here.

But the Liberal leader emphatically reiterated his charge that the Progressive Conservative government had lost $600 million trying to avoid devaluation, despite Prime Minister Diefenbaker's denial.

And he expressed further suspicions about the $62 million credited to the exchange fund during May, insisting it did represent "special support" to see him.

TWO CLAIMS

He said the Government was now making two claims about the fund. "The first," he said, "is that no money has been lost. This is nonsense. The Government used up nearly one-third of our whole reserve fund in a desperate but unsuccessful attempt to avoid devaluation.

"Second, the Conservatives say that the $62 millions received since devaluation was a normal transaction. If that were so, why were the figures ever produced in a way that showed this $62 millions as a separate special credit?

"Many different explanations have been given. The certain fact is that the exchange fund received special support in May, to the extent of $62 million."

Mr. Pearson pointed out to his audience, which applauded his attack on devaluation with enthusiasm, that he had said he had expressed "suspicion about the $62 million, and a lot of newspapermen were suspicious too."

The May statement of exchange fund transactions made it clear, he said, that the increase in exchange reserves took place through transactions not associated with the open market."

STILL WORRIED

This was what led to the suspicions. And the Liberals, he said, were still "worried" about the whole operation.

"They have asked us what we would do," Mr. Pearson said. "We would try to re-establish confidence and clear up this mess, and then we can put a valuation on the dollar and keep it there."

The Liberal leader's rally here was seen by Liberal strategists as a highly successful end to a day of hard campaigning in Tory southwestern Ontario.

The industry has not commented pending complete study of the package.

Mr. Pearson confessed that he was "a little fatigued" after making 11 speeches during the day at 11 villages, towns and hamlets between Walkerton and here.

But the fatigue was neutralized, he said, by the indication of support he was receiving "everywhere I go . . . it's like this all across Canada."

"When you see you are achieving your objective — and I see a tide in our support moving across Canada — you don't get tired," he said. "It's when you are plowing the sand and getting nowhere that you get fatigued."

The hall at Strathroy, was packed to overflowing. Of the estimated 1,500 on hand, nearly 400 were in upstairs rooms, listening to the Pearson speech on a loudspeaker, but unable to see him.

At his stops along the road earlier in the day, Mr. Pearson was greeted by crowds of from 100 to 300. In some spots at Exeter, for instance — the school children outnumbered the adults.

One of the areas in which the government had failed was agriculture. The Liberals, he said, would provide a system of deficiency payments to stabilize agriculture, so the farmer would know what he would be getting for his produce and so that he would share in the country's prosperity.

At the same time, the Liberals would give recognition to the fact that "there are different problems facing farmers in the East than in the West, and they require different solutions."

The Liberals, he said, had no quarrels with the sales to Communist China, although "the government still hasn't given us the details of the deal."

"We want, of course, to see sales everywhere people need food," he said. But he warned that in return for such sales there was the threat of imports from Communist countries, imports which could hurt Canadian producers.

Mr. Pearson, at his Strathroy rally, struck back at suggestions by Mr. Diefenbaker and by Finance Minister Fleming that "that I have betrayed my country."

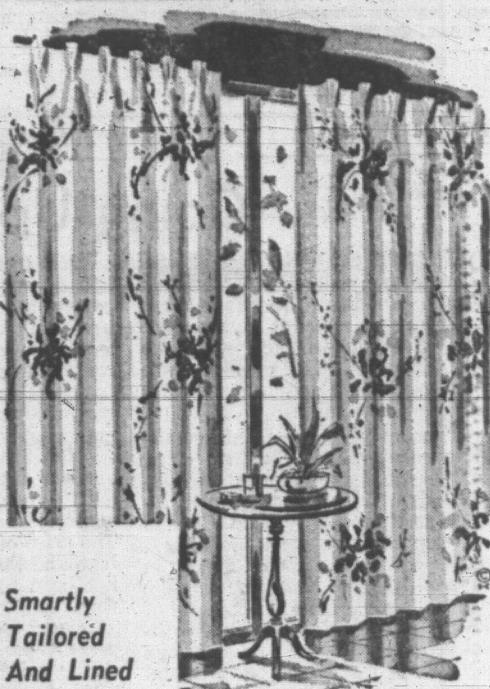

"I've served my country all my life," he said. "I am not selling the country short when I expose its problems in the hope that the government will do something about them."

"I have great confidence in Canada, but I have no confidence in this government."

Going Up

PERHAPS MORE NONSENSE has been talked about interest rates in Canadian politics than about anything else, which is saying a lot. Today the stubborn facts which the government had tried to reverse are asserting themselves. Interest rates are going up again.

Though the government promised to reduce them, they are going up by the government's deliberate design. They must go up to attract foreign money into Canada and support our weak dollar. A higher cost for borrowed money in Canada—the last thing the country wants—is part of the general cost of the government's disordered finances.

One by one the chickens hatched by six deficit budgets and massive debt come home to roost. Probably interest rates will have to go still higher to attract foreign money and ease the downward pressure on our currency.

Above all, the nation must begin at least to balance its budget and demonstrate its ability to live within its means.

Ordinary Canadians who have saved a few dollars and invested them in federal, provincial or municipal government bonds know that interest rates are not some remote actuarial mystery but affect the smallest investor.

A few years ago he bought a bond worth, say, $100. He cannot sell it at that price today if he needs cash. To be sure, the bond will be redeemed for $100 at its maturity date but what will the money be worth in purchasing power then? As things are going it will be worth less than it is worth now because the devaluation of the dollar is pushing up prices, as it must.

For the financial folly of the last five years the price must be paid not by a few rich men, not by a distant government in Ottawa but by everybody.

That there is no other choice has been proved by the government.

Who Pays for Rail Settlement?

SETTLEMENT OF THE DISPUTE between the Canadian National Railways and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (CLC), which averted a strike threatened at the beginning of this week, is good news. Still to be negotiated, however, is the difference between the non-operating groups of employees and Canadian railways due to resume negotiations in the middle of this month.

But the public has heard only part of the story concerning the settlement already reached with the trainmen. They have received an 8 per cent wage increase in line with the recommendation of a minority report of a federal conciliation board. The majority had favored an increase of 6½ per cent.

On previous similar occasions, threatened rail strikes in this country have ended with the companies finally yielding to agreements which they said were more costly than they could afford. In such cases, the federal government has bailed out the railways either by permitting an increase in rates or by granting subsidies.

What happened in this most recent instance? Did the government finally assure the railroad that it would be able to recoup the added costs of the settlement either through rate increases or through a further subsidy?

The public is entitled to know since the conventional pattern of settlement costs the public money.

No word has been released on that point. We need expect none for another week and a half. This, like other unpleasant news, is not being given out before June 18.

A Day to Remember

IN MANY COUNTRIES AROUND the globe today newspaper editorials have noted that this is Freedom of the Press Day. But in many other countries they did not—editorial columns observed a "silence" to mark the fact that they exist in a land where freedom of the press has been curtailed or abolished.

In 96 out of the 144 nations of the world, newspapers do not have freedom to operate without restriction or compulsion by the government. Some of those remaining are not always free from governmental attempts to curb this basic freedom. Even in Canada, Alberta and

On Display

THE EXPECTED INFUX OF United States tourists for Centennial year is proving a reality. Partly as a result of our local attractions, partly because of the overflow crowds from Seattle's great fair, British Columbia is welcoming a record number of visitors.

The B.C. Travel Bureau estimates that $90,000,000 will be spent by visitors to the province this year. Victoria will receive its share of this revenue—and perhaps more. A look at the city centre these days reveals a great number of American tourists, and the main flow has not yet started.

Although the weatherman is not being very co-operative, there is much that can be done to ensure that those who come here to see our city will not only return some day but also carry the good word home with them.

We should not lose sight of the fact, though, that almost every community on the continent is in the tourist industry one way or another. Our best way to be attractive to visitors is not to ape the efforts of other places, but to present a community that is not only pleasant to visit but pleasant to live in—culturally, socially, architecturally, recreationally.

Here and there we've shown what can be done. Let's do more of the same.

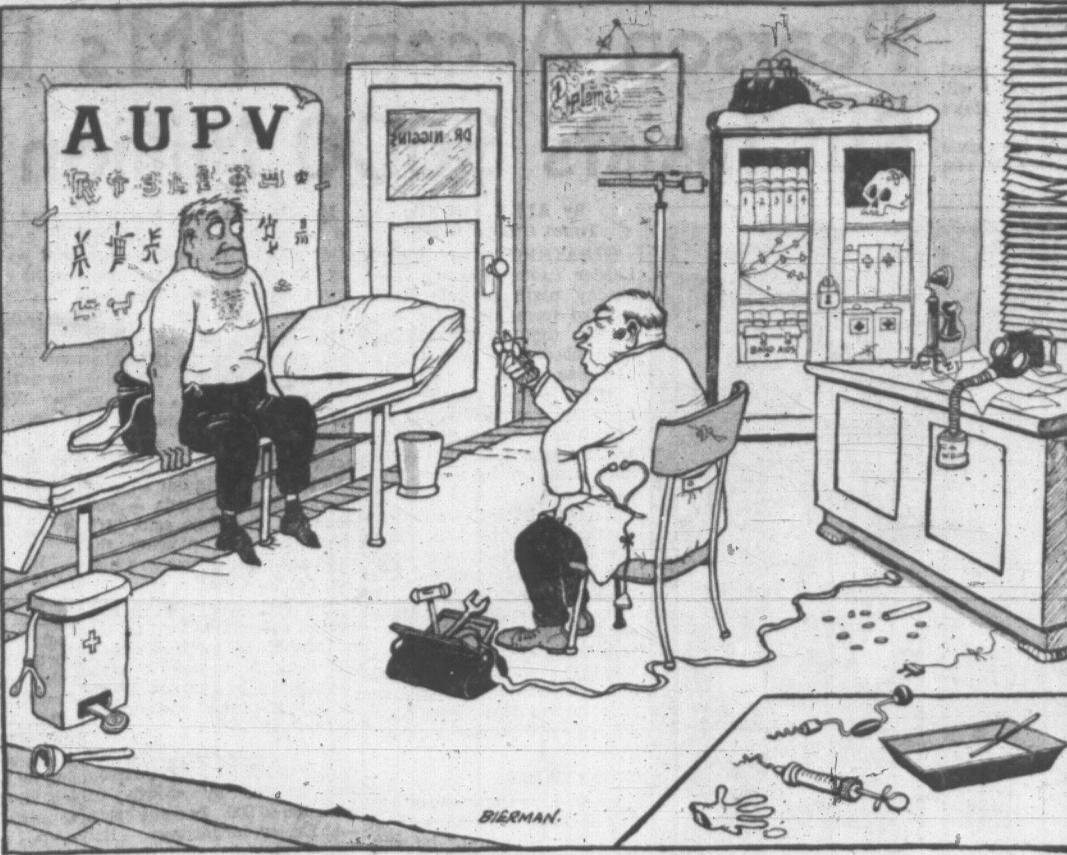

Of Course, Never on a Sunday

NOBODY PRETENDS TO MAKE sense out of a law which permits some bingo games, prevents others, allows daily cash door prizes for a fair and outlaws a jackpot for the same event.

Nor is there much logic in Mr. Bonner's explanation of action taken against this form of entertainment or gambling (whatever the authorities decide) in Prince Rupert. According to the Attorney General: "Social bingo games are permitted only if they are occasional. Frequent ones, even for charities, are illegal."

What is "occasional"? What is "frequent"? And when the quantitative analysis has been completed, shall we proceed to the qualitative? Or is the law in this respect like baseball—two strikes you may have. Strike three and you're out.

FROM WASHINGTON

The True Policy is to Keep on Talking

CONFRONTED with a shortage of meat and butter the Soviet government has done by decree what all probability, Mr. Khrushchev is at present not strong enough to make such a concession.

This will not be a surprise to those who have been in favor of attempting to negotiate about Berlin. They have known from the beginning, that is since last summer, that only a miracle could produce an agreement on a statute governing the position of West Berlin. For neither side can now make the concessions which such an agreement would require.

And so, some have asked, why bother about talking with the Russians?

The best reason for continuing to talk, though no agreement is in sight, is that by remaining in close diplomatic contact, Washington and Moscow have been able to prevent the dangerous situation in Berlin from getting out of control. In this, both Washington and Moscow, and of course London, Paris, and Bonn as well, have a common vital interest.

This contrasts with the advanced nations of Western Europe and North America. There, although the military costs are high and are rising, the popular standard of life is rising too. It would rise even more rapidly if the American economy were not throttled down.

It is a reasonable guess that the bad news that Mr. Khrushchev has had to tell the Russian people is closely related to the hardening of Soviet diplomacy at Geneva and in the Ruskobriny talks in Washington. The Soviet government, like other governments, shrinks from offering to make concessions abroad when it is demanding sacrifices at home.

An agreement about Berlin, which affirmed explicitly the Western rights of access, would however it may look to Dr. Adenauer—be a very big concession when seen from Moscow. In

Gerald Waring ... REPORTING

VANCOUVER—Two days, two men and two meetings made political history last week in this turbulent cockpit of B.C. politics.

Both Conservatives and Liberals here went to quite extraordinary lengths, compared with political practices elsewhere in Canada, to give their candidates for prime minister the roughest-toenest ovations that John Diefenbaker and Mike Pearson have received anywhere to date.

By promising free entertainment and a sensation-studded speech by the prime minister, the Tories packed 8,000 into the Exhibition Forum and turned away hundreds of late-comers. A free show prior to speechmaking also helped the Grits jam close to 4,000 into the magnificent new Queen Elizabeth Theatre, while up to 2,500 more milled or sat in the open outside the theatre watching events inside on a huge closed circuit TV screen.

The meetings were intended to act as rocket boosters to get the Grit and Tory campaigns into election orbit. The Diefenbaker meeting was a fiasco, with a hundred odd hecklers and demonstrators jeering and chanting and fighting and maintaining such a din and disturbance that Diefenbaker's speech was wholly lost in the hubbub. But the PM had his audience with him, and the shock and revulsion of the citizens here over the gross courtesy to the prime minister may swing more support to the Diefenbaker candidates on June 18 than the PM's speech could have done.

Reaction from the emotional extravaganza of the preceding night gave Pearson an attentive and rather subdued audience. Neither he nor Diefenbaker made any move.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Socks in the Shirt Drawer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For years, we have been taught to think of our nervous systems as resembling a telephone switchboard.

When we feel, see, hear, taste or smell something, a line is plugged in and a message is carried to the brain.

And if your nervous system is anything like mine, you get an awful lot of wrong numbers.

Now along comes Dr. Jerome Bruner, a Harvard psychology professor, with word that the switchboard concept no longer is valid.

He says recent experiments indicate the nervous system "works like a series of editorial rooms that receive messages from the chief editorial organ up above and exercise these instructions on copy arriving at the lower centres."

This seems to suggest that the nervous system operates something like a newspaper. Knowing what I do about the newspaper business, I think I would rather have mine work like a switchboard.

At any rate, in testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee, Bruner reported that scientists in the past 10 years have made some rather startling discoveries in this field.

HOME GARDEN

Marigold Helps Tardy Planter

One of the most dependable of summer bedding plants for the gardener who is late getting annuals is the marigold in many of its many forms.

Unfortunately marigold to some of the older gardeners from Scotland and England, brings to mind the pot-marigold, sometimes also called the Scotch-marigold, or calendula. This plant is winter hardy here in some seasons, and self-sows its seeds all over the garden, making itself a pest instead of a desirable plant, since the resulting plants are quite inferior.

The marigold which is so useful to us however comes in tall forms up to three feet in height with individual fully double flowers often four inches across, intermediate forms about 12 inches tall with large double lemon-colored flowers, and the dwarf forms under 10 inches and down to four inches.

The tall forms go by the name of African marigolds since they were once thought to come from Africa. They are, however, a Mexican species, and could more rightly be named the Aztec marigold. Many wonderful shades of lemon and orange have been developed, and the search goes on for the pure white.

Lacking the strong scent of the tall kinds is a useful intermediate called Spungold, with large pleasant lemon yellow flowers and a delicate rose-like perfume. I mention this, because many people do not like the more pungent aroma of some of the marigolds.

mentous news in what they said, but that wasn't too important. The purpose of the hoopla and the meeting packing was to create the impression that the nation cries out to each of these men to lead it, and both left Vancouver with enhanced stature. In balance, their battle here was something of a draw.

This was good enough for Pearson, who starting May 25 at Carleton Place, Ont., had been riding the crest of unexpectedly large crowds. He outdrew the PM five to four at Winnipeg and two to one at Edmonton.

It was not good enough for a deeply disturbed prime minister. The howling down he took at his meeting negated his crowd size advantage over Pearson. His stature increased because of his coolness under fire, and the way he used his great oratorical skill to control an incendiary situation that could have flamed into a riot of surging bodies, flailing fists and trampled spectators. But he could not be said to have given his dragging campaign much of a lift in Vancouver.

The impression I have after a week in the West covering both leaders is that the Pearson drive is steady on course, while the prime minister's campaign is wobbling a bit. In full sessions with other correspondents I find pretty general agreement that the two leaders are heading into the home stretch practically neck and neck, but with no certainty that either can win an absolute majority in the Commons.

Victory or defeat could conceivably hinge on a single seat—which is why the Independent Tory in Victoria, W. C. Gelling, pulled out a couple of days after Diefenbaker visited that city.

animals, they have been able to trace the electrical impulses which the sensory system sends out when it is stimulated.

These show that the brain not only receives messages, but dispatches messages of its own telling the sense which stimuli to accept and which to ignore.

In an experiment, scientists hooked a wire to the auditory nerve of a cat and made a clicking noise in the cat's ear. Then they did the same thing while the cat was watching a mouse.

They found that the electrical activity in the nerve was much diminished the second time, indicating that it was being short-circuited by other impulses coming down from the brain.

Bruner said this explains why a person who is absorbed in a good book is slow to hear a doorbell ring. The same thing can happen to your eyes.

Suppose, for example, that you are looking for a pair of socks which your wife has put in the drawer with your shirts. You open the shirt drawer a dozen times without seeing the socks.

Actually, your eyes record the presence of the socks, but the impulses are blocked by signals from the brain which say, in effect, that it would be silly to expect to see hosiery in a shirt drawer.

This is known as "perception selectivity." In the case of my nervous system it means that stray socks usually turn up in the drawer with my underwear.

TODAY'S BEST FROM EUROPE

Britain Renews Pledge on ECM

LONDON (CP)—Britain Wednesday soberly reiterated its pledge not to join the European Economic Community until Parliament approves the final agreement after full consultation with the Commonwealth.

The undertaking was given again by Lord Privy Seal Edward Heath, the government's chief Common Market negotiator, when he launched a two-day debate on Britain's application to join the community formed by France, Germany, Italy and the Benelux countries.

"We shall try to work out in Brussels solutions to the main problems," Heath said in an hour-long speech.

"The (Commonwealth) prime ministers' conference and subsequently Parliament will have to consider this along with all the other proposed solutions as part of an overall settlement."

The pledge was given when the lord privy seal was discussing the accord reached with the six on treatment of exports of manufactured goods from Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

The recommendation said:

1. "Exceptional provisions" should be worked out to cover a transitional period in favor of imported Commonwealth foodstuffs, especially from the temperate zones (Canada, Australia and New Zealand).

2. After this transitional period there should be product-by-product negotiations of tariff agreements "taking into account the world commodity agreements for foodstuffs which will be sought" by the market.

These points were part of an amendment proposed Tuesday.

Earlier, the assembly recorded its preference for an integrated "democratic union of the peoples of Europe" instead of the inter-government "union of states" favored by France.

Meat Inspection Plan Works Well

Victoria's four-day-old meat inspection station is operating "very satisfactorily for a temporary measure" and has rejected eight infected animal organs since Tuesday.

Woods Strike Seen In U.S. Northwest

HELENA, Mont. (CP) — Officials of the Timber Operators' Council here today said there is a possibility of a strike of all lumber workers in the Pacific Northwest States.

The council, which represents 190 employers from Alaska to northern California, said it had reached a stalemate with representatives of both the International Woodworkers of American and the lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union.

The workers are asking a 30 cents an hour wage increase.

More than 20 congressmen from the areas involved are reported to have asked President Kennedy to impose temporary quotas on imports of Canadian softwood lumber as a means of alleviating unemployment in the forest products industry.

Public Invited To View School

Elford Street Occupation Centre, officially opened this afternoon, will be open to the public on Saturday between 2 and 4 p.m.

The centre, run by the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded, is attended by post and pre-school age retardates. Greater Victoria School Board being responsible for education and training of school-age children since 1960.

The care of only moderately retarded has increased at the Elford Street home, so that the new post-school-age training program caters to some of a much higher IQ than those in the school program.

Training at the centre includes home and garden maintenance, cooking, weaving, ceramics and other crafts.

The home, purchased in 1960, was opened today by Dr. Brock Chisholm.

Comedy 'Hero' Dies

Barilko's Remains Strapped in Plane

COCHRANE, Ont. (UPI) — An 11-year mystery surrounding the disappearance of Toronto Maple Leaf hockey star Bill Barilko ended Wednesday in muskeg bushland 45 miles north of here.

The skeletons of Barilko and his companion, Timmins dentist, Dr. Henry Hudson, were found strapped in the wreckage of their yellow Fairchild 24 plane.

The rugged defenceman and Dr. Hudson disappeared Aug. 26, 1951, on a return flight to Timmins from Rupert House on James Bay, where they had spent the summer fishing.

The wreckage was found by Garry Fields, a pilot for Dominion Helicopter Service of Toronto, who first sighted it last Thursday.

Approved meat bears a "B.C. Passed" stamp.

The plane had burned after the crash when one gasoline

Juniors Invited to Laying of Cornerstone

Members of the junior auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital have been invited to attend the laying of the cornerstone of the new wing by Princess Mary, the Princess Royal, on Friday, June 15.

Mr. Masters said the ceremony will be attended by the hospital's radiology department.

The invitation was extended by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes, to Royal Canadian Navy Band, detachments of sea scouts and the RCMP.

The junior auxiliary accepted an invitation from Mrs. J. H. Todd to hold its annual picnic at her home at Prospect Lake on June 14.

Dr. H. M. Edmiston of the hospital's radiology department gave a talk on the tremendous increase in radiology in recent years.

Irish Favor Curragh Over England's Epsom

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON: (CP) — Maybe it's nothing more than a bit of Irish blarney, but there's a whisper going around that the English Derby is going to have to look to its laurels.

Ever since Disraeli dubbed it the blue ribbon of the turf, the Epsom classic has been all on its own in terms of prestige. Now a challenge looms from Ireland.

The first Irish Sweeps Derby, to be run June 30 at a track near Dublin called The Curragh, is being sponsored by the group that runs the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes. They're putting £30,000 into the pot, and the total purse money will be about £70,000.

This will make the Irish race one of the richest in Europe. But it's not only that which poses the threat to Epsom's pre-eminence. The Irish argue that the Curragh, 20 miles southeast of Dublin, offers a truer test of thoroughbred ability than is possible at Epsom, with its sharp turns and gradients.

Nesbit-Waddington of the Irish Turf Club says he would rather breed from a winner of the Dublin event. The Curragh is noted for its gentle turns and wide track offering a fair run to any thoroughbred. Big, heavy-topped horses seldom do well at Epsom.

When entries closed for the Irish Sweeps Derby, there were 627 candidates from 12 countries, including Italy, Switzerland, Australia, Belgium, British Guiana, Colombia, Portugal and South Africa.

In early betting favoritism was conferred on the Italian colt Antelami, owned by the Marchese Incisa della Rocchetta. The sire of Antelami is Botticelli, which raced with some success in Britain.

Ireland expects a record crowd at The Curragh for a race that in the past has attracted little attention outside the emerald isle. English racegoers are expected to cross the Irish Sea in great numbers to watch the race.

The Curragh — the name means racecourse — lies in a 4,887-acre plain. As far back as 1,000 years ago, Irish kings presided at races held there as part of a kind of Irish olympics.

The fact that there will be a sweepstakes on the Derby gives it special interest.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

There are times when your agent, laboring in the salt mine and wondering what inflation will do to his pension when he is turned out to pasture, wishes his surname was Hemming or Strongman or McKenzie.

This is not the same as wishing you were Mr. Marilyn Monroe or Mr. Elizabeth Taylor, simply because with those dolls the "Mr." tag is no assurance of permanent employment.

Less well known than the Hollywood damsels, George Hemming, Gordon Strongman and Brian McKenzie have certain similar characteristics. They are all extremely well built and fast. All have curves and display them—but in different market places.

Spliced together or separately they have a common gift—they can throw a baseball faster than most mortals their age. Sooner or later this talent will be inspected by baseball scouts eager to force on them huge sums of money.

Since it is widely known that a young boy doesn't know what to do with money except spend it, the paternal proprietors of these diamond nuggets naturally will have to take command of the lot.

Such a grave responsibility means, of course, that father would have to tell them where to go at the salt mine. But that's life. And the "problem" that could face three Victoria fathers in the foreseeable future.

Everybody Nose the Strongmen

The three potential major leaguers of tomorrow all labor in the city's complex minor baseball league vineyard. Except for Hemming, still eligible for Connie Mack competition at 19, Hemming has recently been strutting his southpaw pitches in the Senior League.

When he moves, the batters move too. There are easier ways to say hello to St. Peter than getting a Hemming hopper in the ear.

Currently three teams—New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox, and St. Louis Cardinals—are mildly but unofficially interested. Officially they cannot approach him until he graduates from high school later this month.

In the Pony League they say nobody dispenses baseballs quicker than Brian McKenzie. Rugged (5' 11" and 175 pounds) and righthanded, he has simply overpowered most batters courageous enough to go against him.

Neither Hemming nor McKenzie had their working clothes on Tuesday. But Gordon Strongman had. The surname should be familiar. Another Strongman, father Bernie, played professional hockey in Kansas City and Omaha and Victoria. He gave up dispensing baseballs 10 years ago, now moves bottles for Col. McGugan's water control board team.

Anyone who nose Bernie Strongman would have no trouble picking his son out of the group of Babe Ruthers at Broadmead Park. They both sport delightful Grecian beaks, broad grins and legs like wharf pilings.

Both more or less have dark hair. Gordon has more and Bernie has less.

Hot on the Hill—Cool In Class

Watching Gordon pitch, it is difficult to believe he is only 15. He is poised and purposeful and all fluid grace. He is also murder.

Before Tuesday his record was four wins, no losses. That's only part of it. Two of those wins were no-hit, no-run games. Over that span he struck out 76—or 2.4 batters per inning. He gave up a mere three runs. If they were all earned, his earned run average would be .06 or half a run per game.

He is, as is his Dominion Hotel manager George Vickery says, "just too good for this league."

His repertoire includes a fast ball, curve and an occasional sinker. But it is the fast ball that hums. He throws it high and tight and then comes in with a sharp, low curve.

His mates staked him to a 6-0 first inning lead (they went on to take Hillside Shell 15-0) and he never really had to work up a sweat. As a result he had a poor game—for him. Only 12 strikeouts.

"That's his weakness," said his father, standing on the sidelines. "He has to be pushed. Same with his school-work. He's capable of getting good marks but you have to light a fire under him. His last report card"—he closed his eyes and shook his head.

George Strongman, charming and brusque, nodded. "If he performed in school as he does on the ball field," she said, "we would be happier."

You Must Be Fast With the Books

Both parents know that college scholarships await boys with brain and brawn. Even the pros want prospects who can think as well as throw, run and hit.

Does he play other sports?

"Soccer and hockey," Bernie said. "Made the bantam hockey all-stars last winter."

Naturally his dad helped with the skating.

"You know what time those kids skate?" he asked. "Seven in the morning. Besides, he wears my skates."

Would he like Gordie to be a professional athlete?

"That's what he wants," Bernie said. "I haven't discouraged him. Or encouraged him too much, either. I told him, though, that the day of the athletic bum is over. 'You have lots of time,' I said. 'Get your education first. Then when you're playing days are over you will have something to fall back on.'"

On the field Hillside Shell had a "rally" going in their last time at bat. A walk and an error resulted in runners at second and third with one out.

Manager Vickery ordered an intentional pass to fill the bases and set up a double play. Strongman threw three aspirins and the next batter walked to the dugout, head down. Two out.

A tall boy stepped into the box. Strongman wheeled the fast-ball around the letters. Strike one. Then he broke off two curves which looked like they might part the batter's hair. As he jumped out of the way the ball dipped down and sliced the corner of the plate.

It was enough to make a fellow with five daughters cry. "Course there's always those three boys to work on."

National Golf Week is generally described as the country's biggest tournament, but city golfers are slow in entering the event. You can only repeat, for the umpteenth time, that it is a worthwhile event with funds being funnelled towards junior development.

Still, as slow as they are, the locals are showing more interest in it than has been prevalent in recent years. District clubs are offering prizes, just like in any other tournament, and that seems to be the stimulus.

A quick check of the clubs reveals that about 60 golfers have already turned in cards for National Golf Week competition. Most clubs are waiting for Saturday before making a big pitch.

In addition to the prizes supplied by the local clubs, golfers who manage to beat Stan Leonard or Judy Darling Evans (on a handicap basis) will receive an "I beat the champion" medal from the RCGA.

Players must pay their $1 entry BEFORE the round, but they can play as many rounds as they wish.

Three Gorge Vale golfers are pressing Laurie Kerr as the field gets ready for Sunday's final round, but it will have to be considered quite a surprise if anyone keeps the Colwood smoothie from claiming his sixth City Amateur championship.

Kerr is one stroke ahead of Mike Kolb, three up on John Merriman, and four ahead of Bill Wakeham.

Laurie will be back on the course he knows best, so his game would have to go extremely sour before the challengers would have any hope of overtaking him.

It's possible, however, and Wakeham, in particular, will chase Laurie down to the wire. Victory in the city event would greatly boost Wakeham's chances of making the B.C. Willingdon Cup team.

SHORT CHIPS: It's always nice to see Bob Morrison mixing it up with the boys in competition, but does that mean the fish aren't biting at Oak Bay? And I finally figured out why I can't score as well as Arnold Palmer. Recent issue of Esquire quotes Palmer, a great steaker-lover, as saying "I play on an empty stomach!" Me? Can't make a move Sunday morning until after the orange juice-mash-and-coffee treatment.

Ricky Kent, whose popularity with the members-at-large continues to increase, captured the Colwood handicap championship with a victory over Bert Saxon. The 16-year-old Kent also made a fine showing in the first two rounds of the city amateur. He stands fifth, a stroke behind Wakeham.

Cedar Hill's handicap trophy is in the hands of George Bone after last weekend's victory over Bruce Timbers. Cedar Hill flight winners were Dave Thom, Jack Hill, Carl Pedersen, Ray Saxon, Les Curran and John Moore. Bill Hobbs won a "honey pot" competition while Hill and Murray Russell held Cedar Hill's buttons by defeating Walt Spaven and Walt Wigg. District's senior buttons are still with Ernie Watt and Glen Coffey of Oak Bay. They made their first defence a successful one by defeating clubmates Dr. Currie McMillan and the Hon. John Sturdy.

When Palmer defends his British Open championship in Troon, Scotland, starting July 9, he'll be facing the strongest field in the U.S. since before the Second World War. American competition at Birkdale last year wasn't very much. This year he'll be challenged by such as Sam Snead, Gene Littler, Doug Sanders, Jack Nicklaus and Phil Rodgers. And, too, Gary Player.

Pakistan 'Alive'

LONDON (Reuters) - Warm sunshine brought out the stroke-making abilities of the Pakistan batsmen against Surrey, English county cricket leaders, at the Oval Wednesday.

By the close of the opening day's play, the Pakistanis, who fielded seven of the team beaten in the first test, had hammered out 388 runs for the loss of six wickets.

Opening hit Ijaz made 110, his first century of the tour.

ENTHUSIASTIC EDNA COLWOOD'S CHOICE

Four Club Champions In Ladies' Semifinals

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Edna Hay had to do some tall talking to get hubby Gordon to take her out for their first game of golf.

That trip to Ardmore happened "about five or six years ago."

The pitch-and-putt pastime struck Mrs. Hay's fancy right away but Gordon, he admits, had to make one more trip before catching the bug. The Hays, it must now be noted, are among the most enthusiastic members at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club.

Today, it must also be noted, Edna Hay is rated as one of the city's top distaff swingers. IN SEMIFINALS

A rapidly improving 11-handicapper, Mrs. Hay joins Shirley Naysmith, Margaret Todd and Joan Lawson in the picture as the city's four club champions squared off this morning in the semifinals of the Victoria women's championships at Uplands.

Mrs. Hay, winner of Colwood's club crown last year scored a four-over-par 82 in winning her first-round match on Tuesday.

Not the long driver that Mrs. Todd is, Mrs. Hay makes up for that with an excellent short game. Testimony is supplied by 10-handicapper Gord Hay, who "used to" give her four strokes at Ardmore but not any more!

In Wednesday's other matches at Uplands, the semi-finalists won handily.

Mrs. Todd defeated Mrs. T. Christie, 8 and 6; Mrs. Shirley Naysmith ousted Mrs. E. Saunders, 7 and 6, and Mrs. Lawson tripped Mrs. T. Liddell, 9 and 7.

The finals will be played

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other interesting prizes? Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 26-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Sharon Brookshire, age 9, of Black Mountain, N.C., for her question:

What Are Fruit Flies?

These pesky midgets seem to come from nowhere. Squads of them may appear indoors, hovering around a bowl of juicy, ripe fruit. They are almost small enough to squeeze through the squares of a window screen. But they did not break into the house. They were brought in with the fruit.

A true fly has a wide head, huge eyes and one pair of gauzy wings. His mouth is made for sipping and sucking and he cannot chew solid food.

So he dines on plant sap, juices and other liquids. The fruit fly is a true fly. He looks like a miniature copy of his big cousin, the house fly, though his neat body may be green and his round eyes may be rosy red.

There are many different fruit flies. Some kinds prefer onions, some cabbages and some choose to dine on fruit.

But in nature, most of them get eaten by birds and other hungry animals.

Fruit flies are hard to control in fields and orchards because they multiply so fast. But for this very same reason, the tiny insects are also very useful to science. They are easy to keep and feed in glass bottles and in a few weeks, a small brood will supply a scientist with thousands of different specimens to study.

One kind of fruit fly is named Drosophila; the vinegar fly. This greenish, red-eyed little fellow is a great pest in our orchards. But in the laboratory, he is one of the most useful of animals. There he is used to study heredity, the science which explains why we are like our parents and also different from them.

A youngster, even a young fruitfly, resembles his parents and inherits a lot of his features from them. But he also inherits a host of features from countless ancestors. This makes him slightly different from each of his relatives.

Science uses the fast-multiplying fruit fly to figure out how these features are handed down through the generations.

End Exams With a Fling

By JACK HUTTON

So you're facing your final exams? Well, why not think now about throwing a party for as many people in your class as possible?

The sad thing about end-of-the-year exams is that you will never again be in a class with exactly the same people. There'll be additions or subtractions in the fall—if you haven't finished completely.

Why not have an all-out class party the night after exams are over? This time invite everybody—not just your own gang.

I'll give you one tip. Everyone will feel so good about finishing exams that your party's bound to be a raving success, no matter what happens.

Mass Outing

It might be just a mass outing to the movies with coffee and sandwiches back at someone's house later. Or, if you want to be more elaborate, these few points may help you:

—Relax! This is the most important factor of all. If you're having fun, it's 10-to-1 that everyone else will too. But nothing puts a damper on things like a host or hostess with jump nerves.

—Plan everything as well as possible in advance. If you'll be dancing, make sure your record player is working properly. If it's a beach party, make sure there are places to change and that everyone has transportation.

—Something you'll certainly need will be your mother's cooperation in preparing food. The wisest thing, if possible, is to prepare sandwiches the day of the party and wrap them in wax paper, then cover with slightly dampened towels.

—Get as many friends involved as possible. Have them help with sandwiches, bring records or make a few good friends responsible for seeing that the few shy ones have a good time.

Be sure that you've planned one or two "mixers" early in the evening. It might be a game, or it might be a novelty dance—a hat dance or a Paul Jones. Otherwise you may find boys in the kitchen and girls in the living room.

As a wise host or hostess, of course, you'll let everyone have an idea of what they should wear—dress-up clothes or shorts. And you, of course, won't try to "outdress" your guests.

Memorable

The party is something all of you will probably remember with nostalgia, so why not make it as memorable as possible. I'd suggest getting together with a few bright lights in the class and writing either a class skit or a class song.

I can't imagine anything being more of a hit than a surprise skit based upon things that happened to your class during the year. (Only one thing which I don't need to emphasize: don't be unkind!)

The party could take place anytime up to two weeks after finishing school—with one word of caution. Check among your friends and try not to have the party after too many have left for summer jobs or the cottage.

One final piece of advice: it is only natural during the school year for any class to divide itself into groups of friends who share the same interests.

But this is a class party for all of you who may never be in the same class again. So it's your job as host or hostess to make sure that the party isn't dominated by a clique. It's for everybody!

New Stamp Issue

I trust all stamp collectors have noticed that Canada will issue a five-cent blue honoring the great Intendant (1665-1688) of New France, Jean Talon, on June 13.

The customary first-day service will be given by the postmaster, Ottawa 2, and orders should reach him not later than June 11. Remember to include in your remittance not only the cost of the stamps but also 5 cents for each cover you want.

The design of the stamp may interest you. It is based upon a document which says that Talon presented each of the 1,000 brides he brought to the colony with "a bull, a cow, a hog, a sow, a cock, a hen, two barrels of salt meat and 11 crowns."

All of these items will be on the stamp. Who gets a dowry like that today?

Vanishing Twist

All together now, three cheers! Has anyone noticed that for the first time in weeks the word "twist" is vanishing from the hit parade.

If you remember, every new hit parade tune had the word "rock" in it shortly after the rock 'n' roll craze hit us. That is a period which is mercifully behind us now.

THOMPSON:

'Socreds Finally National Party'

BY STAN McCABE

MINNEDOSA, Man. (CP) — Robert N. Thompson, national leader of the Social Credit party, said Wednesday night that Social Credit has finally become a national party.

Mr. Thompson spoke to about 250 people in the Legion Hall in this key town of the western Manitoba riding of Marquette after making a brief stop in Portage la Prairie.

He said Social Credit does not have the millions of dollars that the old parties do, but it has about 230 candidates in the field—twice as many as in 1957. There were candidates in every province in Canada.

Mr. Thompson said he expects the party to take 18 to 20 seats in Quebec in the June 18 election.

GIVES HIS REASON

"Socialism doesn't have any chance whatsoever in Quebec at this time," he said. "That's why Quebec people have turned to Social Credit."

Mr. Thompson also predicted

when he took office in that year, and he didn't have the answers.

Mr. Thompson said he expects the party to take 18 to 20 seats in Quebec in the June 18 election.

"Socialism doesn't have any chance whatsoever in Quebec at this time," he said. "That's why Quebec people have turned to Social Credit."

Mr. Thompson also predicted

Social Credit has a chance of taking some seats in Ontario. He said the party has twice as much strength in Manitoba as it did in 1957.

"Farther west," he said, "the CCF is dead and the New Democratic Party is not able to resurrect it. I don't think the NDP is going to get off the ground at all."

He predicted that in his home province of Alberta Social Credit candidates will be elected in all 17 ridings.

BCE LAST TAKEOVER BY SOCRED—GAGLARDI

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Highways Minister Phillip Gaglardi of British Columbia said Wednesday the B.C. Electric takeover was the last takeover in the province by the Social Credit government.

Mr. Gaglardi made the remark at a press conference here.

"We have no further intention of stepping in further anywhere that I know of," he said.

He said the B.C. Electric Corporation and the federal government had privately worked out a tax arrangement that was detrimental to the people of the province.

The company paid $12,000,000 a year in corporation taxes, $6,000,000 of which should have been returned to the province, he said.

Love Beats Red Tape Hong Kong Bride Here

Two months of legal argument cleared up certain matters concerning his identity.

This was two months ago, and with the aid of his father, Lee Loy Yick, and Victoria lawyer David Hummel, Lee Wing Ting fought a paper battle with letters to the department of citizenship and immigration ever since.

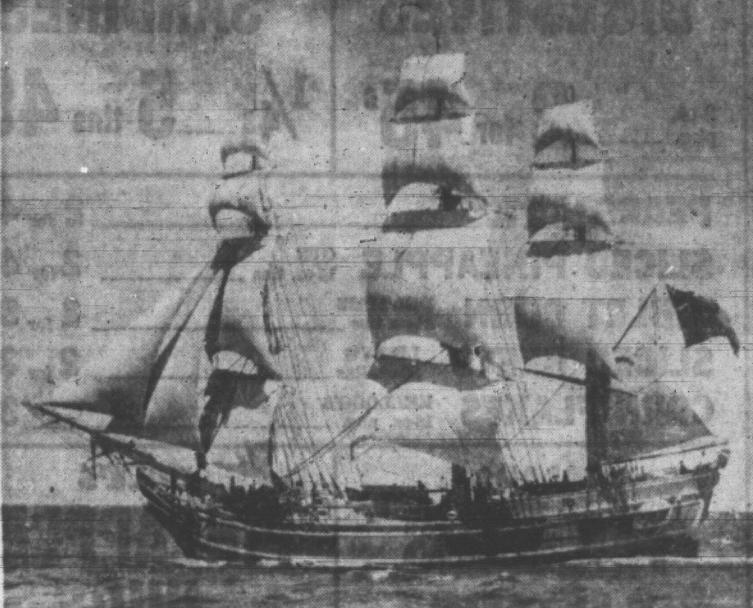

Eventually the department reversed its stand and allowed Mr. Lee's bride to enter the country. Mr. and Mrs. Lee have made their home at 807 Kings, and "We're very happy—it's all over."

National Flag Pleas Greet PM in Quebec

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

CHICOUTIMI—Demands for a national flag and an official national anthem confronted Prime Minister John Diefenbaker when he toured the Lac St. Jean area of Quebec Province Wednesday.

It was the second day of his current three-day visit to the French-Canadian province.

The prime minister hinted that a national conference of the premiers of the provinces would be called, if he was re-elected, to try and reach agreement on a design for a national flag. At Roberval he suggested that it was his plan to bring together representatives of the Canadian people, from each of the provinces, to seek agreement on the symbols of Canada's sovereignty.

At Jonquiere in L'apointe constituency Mr. Diefenbaker spoke for only 12 minutes, 10 minutes in French and two minutes in English.

Lack Program

Social Credit is reported to be making a strong drive to capture the riding and the prime minister urged his listeners not to support a party that lacked experience and a program.

He appeared tired and French Canadian correspondents said his French pronunciation was not as good as the previous evening at Three Rivers.

The crowd of over 800 in the college hall kept up a constant buzz of conversation during the 90-minute meeting. A few people left shortly after the prime minister began to speak. There was hearty applause and scattered boos for the candidates of the ridings adjoining Jonquiere who spoke. Transport Minister Leon Balcer despite a hoarse voice spoke for 35 minutes. Mr. Diefenbaker encountered the demands for a national flag and an official national anthem at Roberval.

Entering the city hall to sign the official guest book the prime minister was greeted by Mayor Francois X. Bouchard and Dr. Gaston Brassard, a local physician, who was acting as master of ceremonies. In a short speech Dr. Brassard said the prime minister would have "deserved" an even better welcome if he had given Canada a national flag and a national anthem.

Termed a Must

"If you desire that Canada remain a united strong country it is more than a need, it is a must. It is a national emergency. Please give us an officially recognized national anthem and give us a national flag," Dr. Brassard pleaded.

Mayor Bouchard echoed those sentiments when welcoming the prime minister. He said that he was confident that the prime minister who had given Canada the first Roman Catholic Canadian government would also give the nation a national flag.

Noel Tremblay, Progressive Conservative candidate for Roberval expressed the confident hope that the next time the constituency welcomed Mr. Diefenbaker Canada would have these symbols.

Mr. Diefenbaker in reply said no government can impose such symbols upon a nation unless there was unanimity. He said it was his plan to bring together the Canadian people's representatives by agreement, and seek to bring about unanimity of the symbols.

Tiring Day

It was a tiring day of motor touring through five Quebec constituencies in the Lac St. Jean area. The prime minister's party flew from Three Rivers to Bagotville airport in the morning. There followed a fast ride by motorcycle with frequent brief stops when the prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker climbed out of the cars to mingle with small crowds at Larouche, St. Bruno, St. Gedeon, St. Jerome and Chambord.

At Alma a crowd of about 800 greeted him in front of the city hall. In French he spoke of the benefits that would accrue to the pulp and paper industries of the area from the devaluation of the dollar.

Chorus of Boos

At Jonquiere Mr. Diefenbaker was given a standing ovation. There was a strong chorus of boos from persons standing at the back of the hall. There had been rumours that there might be trouble at the meeting from Social Credit supporters. It did not materialize. There were several policemen stationed at the rear of the hall.

The prime minister flatly forecast a decisive Tory victory at the polls June 18. The prediction got the biggest hand of the night.

He noted that Social Credit was making a strong bid to win the seat of Lapointe, represented in the last parliament by a Liberal, A. Brassard.

TORIES DEFENDED

Criticism Based On Wrong Facts

Criticism of the Progressive Conservative government over three major issues is due to "wrong impressions," Esquimalt-Saanich Progressive Conservative candidate George Chatterton said Wednesday night.

He told an audience of 25 at Cordova Bay that the press had created an impression the government was opposed to the export of power.

"In fact our government is in favor of it—last year we issued 12 licences for the export of electrical power," he said.

He said, however, the policy was to export only such power as was surplus to Canada's needs.

NO SUDDEN MOVE

Mr. Chatterton also blamed the press for giving the impression that the devaluation of the Canadian dollar was a "sudden measure of desperation" when in fact Finance Minister Donald Fleming took the initial steps towards it two years ago.

Devaluation hasn't affected the purchasing power of the dollar inside Canada and is attracting business into the country from abroad, he said.

He said the government hadn't been "bucking" Great Britain's proposed entry into the European Common Market but rather had been "helping" her in entry negotiations.

Mr. Chatterton said he was pleased to see local shipyards so busy, but the Conservative government does not deserve the credit. If anyone did it is the British Columbia Social Credit government.

Mr. Chatterton was to speak in yard No. 2 at noon today.

Heads Presbyterians

TORONTO (CP)—Rev. Ross K. Cameron of Toronto was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada Wednesday night at the church's 88th general assembly.

"It was the responsibility of our government to point out to the United Kingdom it was her privilege to join the market if she wanted to—and the effect this would have on other members of the Commonwealth."

Mr. Chatterton said the United States "doesn't understand" the Commonwealth. It is an unwritten agreement between nations—a potent force for stability in the world today.

"Labor is largely responsible for this situation. We've stayed strictly to business and haven't told the people we are interested in the welfare of Canada," he said.

He implored support from council, "financial support particularly."

If Sweden Does It, Canada Can

Canada lacks only leadership to produce a planned economy for its vast natural resources; planning such as done by Norway and Sweden, small countries with fewer resources than Canada, the speaker said.

"If it is successful there . . . how much more so should it be in Canada where resources are so vastly greater?" he asked.

Mr. Fanthorpe said it was "nonsense to think that (the working class) can stay out of politics," as many union people think.

"Whether as individuals or

Real Issues Ducked' -Buck

WINNIPEG (CP)—Communist Tim Buck told an election rally Wednesday night that other parties did not dare discuss the real issues.

Only at Communist meetings, the party's national chairman said, will the real election issues be discussed.

Mr. Buck told the crowd of 200 that the real issues included Canada's unification policy of economic integration with the United States.

Others include Canada's subservience to U.S. defence policy which means war towards a nuclear A.A.R.

He told his audience in a high school auditorium that there is also a need for Canada to withdraw from NATO and NORAD and become a neutral willing to trade with anyone in the world.

He told a public meeting in this town 50 miles northeast of Calgary he believed the step was taken to use the profits of the firm for the people of B.C. This, he said, was the information given him but he didn't know if it was correct.

ROCKYFORD, Alta. (CP)—C. K. French, Social Credit member of the legislature for Hand Hills, said Tuesday night he is "not happy" about the stand taken by the British Columbia government over expropriation of B.C. Electric Company.

He told a public meeting in this town 50 miles northeast of Calgary he believed the step was taken to use the profits of the firm for the people of B.C. This, he said, was the information given him but he didn't know if it was correct.

He told his audience in a high school auditorium that there is also a need for Canada to withdraw from NATO and NORAD and become a neutral willing to trade with anyone in the world.

McPHILLIPS SUGGESTS

New Breakwater
At Macaulay Pt.

Construction of a breakwater from Macaulay Point would greatly increase usefulness of Victoria's outer harbor, A. de B. McPhillips, Conservative candidate for Victoria said Wednesday night.

Speaking to 30 James Bay residents at the White Eagle Hall, Mr. McPhillips said the Macaulay Point breakwater is a project he has in mind for the James Bay area and that its construction would not only provide employment but also bring additional ships to the harbor.

The fishing and shipbuilding industries are important to Victoria and the Pacific coast, he said.

SHIPS FOR PACIFIC

"Since the Conservative government has been in office there hasn't been one ship built for service on the Pacific coast that hasn't been constructed in Pacific coast shipyards," he maintained.

"We should restrict bidding to the Pacific coast for Pacific coast ships."

Mr. McPhillips said that both the $7 million weather ships will be built on the Pacific coast, and two of the eight $35 million frigates are to be constructed in Victoria.

He noted that a Pacific Coast Fisheries research vessel will be launched this month from Yarrows Ltd. "I convinced minister Angus MacLean that the Pacific coast needs a vessel of this type just as badly as does the east," he said.

"We're safe for five years on what we have now," Mr. McPhillips claimed.

GRANTS CONCEALED

In an attack against B.C.'s Social Credit government Mr. McPhillips charged that Premier Bennett "neglects to tell own hands," he said.

U.K. Labor Wins
'Safe' Tory Seat

LONDON (CP) — The political fortunes of the ruling Conservative party sagged still lower today with the loss of a "safe" Tory seat to Labor — the first Labor gain in Parliament since the 1959 general election.

Dr. Jeremy Bray, 31, a mathematician, won the House of Commons seat for Middlesbrough West, a north England industrial district, in one of two by-elections held Wednesday. Dr. Bray defeated Conservative candidate Bernard Connolly by a vote of 15,095 to 12,825.

The Conservatives won the seat in 1959 with a majority of 8,710. They polled 25,495 votes, Liberal R. Gardner-Thorpe 11,235, to 13,124 for Labor and 4,336 for the Liberal party.

SEX OFFENDER RETURNED TO COLQUITZ MENTAL HOME

A provincial government order-in-council was read out by Magistrate William Osler in city police court today committing a man charged with indecent assault to the provincial mental home at Colquitz "until complete or partial recovery is certified."

The Crown had sought the order for the man who was seen to molest a 4-year-old girl near Beacon Hill Park on May 26.

He has been a patient at the Wilkinson Road hospital for the past five years, and was on a weekend pass at the time of the offence.

HERE AND THERE With NORMAN CRIBBENS

No children of any country have a corner on brains, courtesy or ability, says Mrs. M. D. Touchings, who teaches a class of 44 New Canadians at George Jay School.

"Children are children the world over and they are as fun-loving and as full of mischief in one country as another."

With Mrs. C. W. Dibb, Mrs. Touchings has been engaged in this specialized work for many years, and in retrospect, she says:

"Some will settle quietly into the routine of the classroom and, though they do not understand right away what is said, they do not interrupt.

"Others demand attention from the first and, if they cannot say what they want to, they attract by other means..."

The remarkable thing is that, while there are devout persons like Mrs. Touchings and Mrs. Dibb who have a broad vision of Canada as a blend of many races, there are mean little nationalists who ask:

"Why should we spend money teaching these foreigners to speak English?"

Over in London Frank Hellwell of Oak Bay ventured into one of those remarkable fur sales the Hudson's Bay Company holds at its famous Beaver Hall.

He records that the buyers gabbled in Yiddish, French and Japanese as "a million furs went under the hammer."

"The whole fur world does its business here," says Frank, "and I was tempted to have a go. But what would I do with 10,000 musquash?"

Surveying the grim deserted hulk of the old courthouse on Bastion Square, it never occurred to me that anyone would want to break in, until I read the threatening notice:

Unauthorized persons found on these premises will be prosecuted, and no person may remove any article from within without the consent of the purchasing commission—G. E. P. Jones, chairman.

I wonder what there is to remove?"

Only 25 per cent of the people who visit the Royal London Wax Museum avoid the Chamber of Horrors, says Arthur Batty, vice-president in charge.

"Most of them enjoy it," he said, "but now and then you see a grandma go in ahead of the children to make sure it isn't too awful for them to see."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Two Victorians split a $1,000 prize today in the Victoria Rotary Club's newspaper bingo game.

Mrs. Denell Leavitt, 3139 Irma, and Hans Madsen, 1463 Myrtle, were presented with $500 each this morning by Rotary Club president-elect Frank Norton.

Fathers will be honored at a Young People's meeting Saturday night at 7:30 in the Victoria Seventh-Day Adventist Church. Mrs. John Penner, leader of the society, will be in charge.

Retired Members Group of the St. John Ambulance will meet on Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the summer home of Miss G. Hewlings, Patricia Bay. Members are asked to bring picnic lunches and details of transportation will be given on request.

About 100 retired Victoria civic employees will benefit by a long-awaited boost in superannuation payments recommended by city finance committee today.

The city will take advantage of a 50-50 cost sharing scheme introduced this year by the provincial government, which increases small civic pensions for those who retired before 1957.

Some Victoria pensions are as low as $35 a month, finance committee was told.

Annual cost to the city will be $10,000.

"Let's give them a little help while they are still here to help," Ald. J. L. W. McLean said.

A 21-gun Royal Salute will be fired at Victoria International Airport June 13 by the 5th (B.C.) Medium Artillery battery, marking the arrival of The Princess Royal for her visit to Victoria.

Lions Club: Empress Hotel, noon. Speaker: Chester P. Lyons, Historic Sites Division, Dept. of Recreation and Conservation, on "Spotlight on Barkerville." Color slides will be shown.

NOSE SURGERY FOR 2 SHIPS

Two of the four ships in the RCN's Pacific command mine-sweeping squadron are scheduled for major "nose" operations.

HMC Ships Fortune and James Bay, both Bay class, wooden-hulled "sweepers," are to have new stems installed during their regular biennial refit.

"This is mainly the fault of Central Mortgage and Housing, the federal government housing authority," in the opinion of Fred Hollingsworth, architect for Victoria's Imperial Motel.

"Integrity is one of the deepest qualities in a human being; so it should be in a building," Hollingsworth said in an interview.

Newest, Falsest'

"But due to CMHA, most homes being built today in Victoria are part of the motif, the latest, the newest, the falsest."

"CMHA are the real propagators of our slums. By their cookie-stamp designs they contribute to this sense of mass conformity which plagues both Victorians and Canadians in general."

Hollingsworth gave as an example the typical low-rental apartment buildings so often backed by CMHA. He said it is almost certain they eventually will become slums.

"It's just a matter of time. There's no planning, no privacy, no respect for human beings. It's merely accommodation of the most meagre quality."

Chinatown Loss

Hollingsworth, who makes his home in Vancouver, also felt it a great shame that Victoria's Chinatown has been condemned.

"A half-baked park plaza is slated to take the place of Victoria's historic Chinatown. Those buildings might just as easily be renovated inside so that the charm and history of their exterior could be preserved."

The present trend of architecture is merely to build boxes, filing cabinets for human beings, that restrict freedom of mind and soul and submerge the man as an individual, he continued.

Dedication Needed

He said that most of the present apartment projects around Victoria do nothing for the dignity of their tenants, even at the rental rates they so proudly defend. He focused the blame for this on the influence CMHA has over such projects.

"CMHA should be changed from a money-lending or approval agency, that functions more as a police force, and with about as much imagination as one, to a research organization, concerned with the environment of man and dedicated to producing it at the highest possible economic level."

Democracy as a form of government depends on the strength and integrity of the individual, the architect said. "This is the field in which residential architecture can be made effective and contributive."

Mayor R. B. Wilson left by air this morning for Winnipeg, to attend the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities' silver jubilee convention next week.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Michael Edens, 2959 Irma, $75 and licence suspended for careless driving.

Audrey H. Parsons, 2607 Chaucer, $10 for failing to notify change of address.

Raymond William Larson, 3282 Whittier, $10 for no safety chain on trailer.

THREE MINISTERS RUNNING B.C.

Cabinet Meets in 'Back Room'

A three-man B.C. cabinet was forced to meet today for the first time he could recall a Victoria cabinet meeting had not been held in the official chamber.

There is no quorum required for the cabinet, but orders in council require two signatures—a presiding member and one other.

The regular cabinet chamber could not be used because of spring cleaning—the floors are freshly varnished.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, Works Minister W. N. Chant and Health Minister Eric Martin, left Victoria to meet in the Social Credit room at the other end of the corridor.

The rest are in B.C. Forests

Minister Ray Williston in the Cariboo, Agriculture Minister Frank Richter in Oliver, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan in the East Kootenays and Recreation Minister Earle Westwood is up-Island.

They are all electioneering.

IN THE EAST

Half the cabinet is in Eastern Canada: Premier Bennett is in Nova Scotia, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Education Minister Leslie Peterson in Quebec and Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi in Ontario.

The rest are in B.C. Forests

Timely Topic to Notice:
Diamond Wedding Bands

By Penny Saver

While searching for shower gifts the other day, Penny saw something which immediately concerns the couple getting married. It was small sign in a jewelry store window which proclaimed that for 10 days, on a special store offer, diamond wedding rings of good quality would be sold for $20.95. There are several styles, each with three or five carat diamonds set in white gold with a yellow 14-kt. gold band.

Same store also has a novelty clock that would appeal to any female celebrating a special occasion. Shape is reminiscent of antiques—rounded top curves in under dial and bottom flares out in skirt effect. Whole is of pottery and has ornamental gold trim around edges.

In the bottom there is a little window in which a ballerina appears. Every hour on the hour, music plays and she pirouettes gaily. Clocks come in red or black with different tunes, such as the Blue Danube. Price is $14.95.

Gift for a grandmother that will definitely please is a small gold case bearing the legend T.A.P. at M.A.G. It contains several plastic picture holders which are attached to each other and unfold from the case. Letters on outside naturally stand for "take a peek at my adorable grandchildren." Gift is $2.50.

Call Penny at EV 2-3131 for name of store which carries these items.

Determine Type of Face
To Get Most Out of Make-Up

As you know, hair styling and make-up can be used with great success to play up your best features and minimize any defects you may have. The shape of your face is the first consideration.

Most women know this, but may be at a loss as to how to "classify" the face. There is no difficulty if you have an extremely long, thin face or one which is very wide, but there are so many in-betweens. Today let us consider the three main types, the oval, the long and the round face.

In order to decide which yours is, do the following: Take a ruler and measure your face from the hairline on your forehead to the tip of your chin, and also across your face to measure its width.

The oval face is longer than it is wide. It is about two-thirds as wide as it is long. This is the perfect face. The perfect face also is divided into three equal parts: 1. From

Date Set

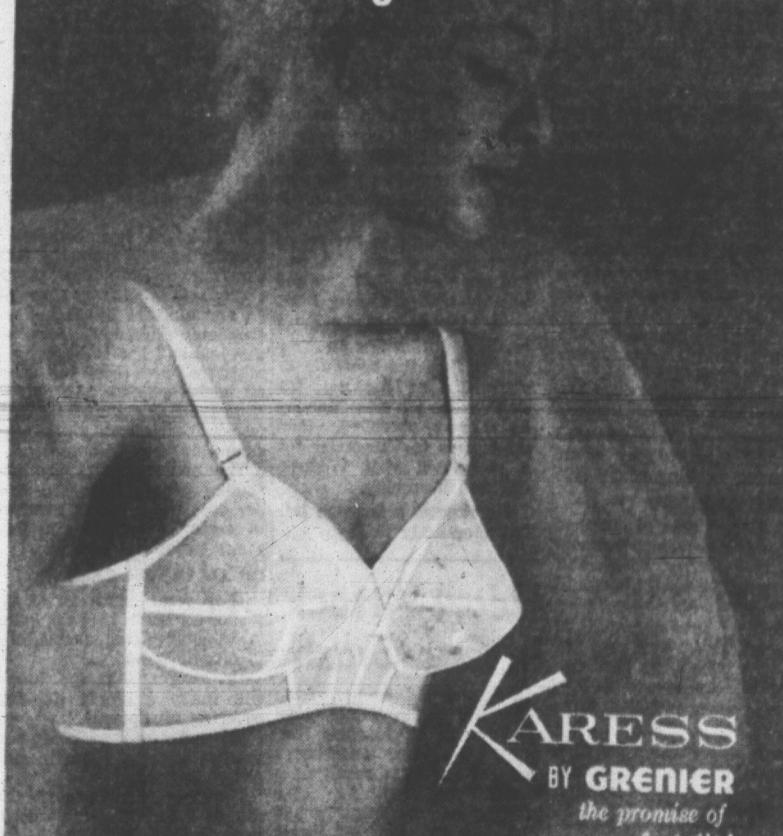

Mrs. Edith Cantrell, North End Road, Salt Spring Island, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Marilyn Eleanor, to Philip John Tamboline, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tamboline, of Ladner, B.C. The wedding will take place on June 16, at 1:30 p.m., in St. George's Anglican Church, at Ganges.

The round face is almost as wide as it is long. There is very little, if any, difference in these measurements. The hair should be off the forehead and high on top. Hair should be close to the sides of the face. The emphasis in hair and hats should be on the vertical rather than horizontal lines. Rouge should be high and close to the nose and then blended outward. If you apply rouge at the outer edges of the face, it broadens it. If you have a round face, avoid fussy hair-do's. Keep it simple.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Your Crowning Glory," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 52 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Mother-Daughter Graduation Tea

Mrs. C. Watson was hostess at a mother and daughter graduation tea at her home on Woodburn Avenue recently honoring the 1962 graduation class of St. Margaret's School, of which her daughter, Miss Cheryl-Ann Watson, is a member. Mrs. D. W. Cobbett, headmistress of the school, poured tea at an ecru lace cloth covered table centered with a bowl of red and white carnations and red and white candles, the school colors. Assisting Miss Watson in serving were Miss Pamela Haynes, Miss Sylvia Reinhard, Miss Beatrice Flett and Miss Diane Beeler. Invited guests were Mrs. W. G. Flett, Mrs. H. E. Haynes, Mrs. W. Reinhard, Mrs. P. Dale, Mrs. C. W. Beeler, Mrs. A. K. Love, Mrs. H. B. Cartier, Mrs. W. Pember, Mrs. P. Forrest and the Misses Pamela Haynes, Sylvia Reinhard, Beatrice Flett, Diane Beeler, Sandra Dale, Ann Love, Carolyn Cartier, Susan Turner, Miriam Higgs, Jill Moyness, Carolyn McKenny, Elizabeth Pember, Leigh Forrest, Janet Davis, Gail Good. Out of town guests were Mrs. H. C. Davis, Mrs. L. H. Good and Mrs. W. Y. Higgs of Nanaimo, Mrs. A. Moyness of Port Renfrew, Mrs. W. P. Turner of Hanna, Alta., and Mrs. V. S. McKenney of Seattle, Wash. A special guest was Mrs. E. King, maternal grandmother of Miss Cheryl-Ann Watson.

Seventy Years Married

Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers, pioneer residents of Salt Spring Island, will celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary on June 14 when they will be "at home" to friends from 2 to 5 p.m., at their Rainbow Road home on Ganges.

They came to Salt Spring Island 60 years ago and preempted 800 acres of land in the Cranberry district. Working together they transformed the forest into a productive sheep and dairy farm.

They raised a family of eight children on this farm, three of whom are living: Stanley Rogers, Salt Spring Island; Archie Rogers, New Westminster and Mrs. Harry Cooley (Lorna), Victoria.

Mr. Rogers at 89 is in good health; Mrs. Rogers at 90 is fairly active. Between them they manage to look after their little home and garden.

From Finland

Visiting Mrs. Laila Luostarinen, 908 Arcadia Street, are Miss Hanna Vaananen, a departmental secretary of the West Finland Conference of the Seventh-Day Adventists, and Miss Alli Matikainen, dean of girls and teacher of physical education at the denominational "Castle of Hope" College in South Finland. Visitors are delegates to the Seventh-day Adventist World Conference to be held in San Francisco July 26 to Aug. 4.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Harvel Hibbs, 2847 Austin Avenue, announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Alison Victoria, to Mr. Leslie Dale Cawston, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cawston of Vancouver. The wedding will take place in the Christadelphian Hall on Saturday, June 30 at 11:30 a.m. with Mr. A. J. Bird officiating. Attendants will be Miss Pat Cawston, maid of honor and Sharon Bird, the bride-to-be's cousin, flower girl. Mr. Harold Cawston will be best man for his brother. The couple will make their home in Vancouver.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Rice, 5955 West Saanich Road, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Kathleen Evelyn, to Mr. Leslie Carl Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lane of Scarborough, Ont. The marriage will take place in Brentwood United Church on Friday, June 29, at 7:30 p.m., with Rev. L. Hopper officiating. Attendants will be Miss Marilyn Rice, maid of honor; Miss Lorraine Essery and Miss Carol Thomson, bridesmaids; Mr. Gordon Payette, best man, and William Thompson and David Gray, the ushers.

Welcome Party

White lilac and crimson tulips created a setting for a shower and "welcome" party, held at the home of Mrs. Irl Bradley, Fulford-Ganges Road, in honor of a recent bride and newcomer to Salt Spring Island, Mrs. Ben Greenhough Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Greenhough were married early in May in Vancouver and are making their home at Ganges. Upon arrival, Mrs. Greenhough and her mother-in-law, Mrs. B. Greenhough Sr., were presented with corsages by Mrs. Bradley and co-hostess, Mrs. M. Mouat. Gifts from a large number of friends were contained in a wishing well. The

Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Goodman, 1221 Caledonia Ave., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Agnes, to Mr. Gerald William Covey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Covey of Bigrig, Sask. The wedding will take place on Saturday, June 30, in Robertson United Church at Edmonton. The young couple will make their home in that city.

Here From Regina

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson, 4436 Majestic Drive have had their nephew, Mr. Albert Dutton, his wife and three-year-old son Ward visiting them. The Duttons motored from Regina through the Rockies to Victoria and have now gone on to Seattle to visit the World's Fair before motoring back to Saskatchewan.

Pearl Coronet Worn by Third Bride

The dainty coronet of seed pearls, centred with drop pearls, was "something borrowed" for Miss Judith Ann Reside when she exchanged vows with Robert Ernest Trickett in St. Aidan's United Church. It had been worn by both her sister, Mrs. Edmond Verheyen when she was married in Belgium in 1960 and by Mrs. Gary Thompson, the former Miss Pat Moulds.

The bride's floor-length gown of nylon sheer featured a basque bodice with cap sleeves and scooped neckline and had Swiss lace embroidery highlighting the bodice and front of the full hoop skirt. Soft sheer draping banded the waistline. Veil was of silk illusion net.

Rev. A. G. MacLeod officiated. Snapdragons and carnations in pink and white shades decorated the church.

Parents of the principals are Mrs. Emil Holm, James Reside and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Trickett, all of Victoria. Mr. Holm gave his stepdaughter in marriage.

Pale green antique satin gowns, fashioned on princess lines, were chosen by matron of honor, Mrs. Ronald Trickett and bridesmaids, the Misses Glenna Reside and Jean Dunbar. They wore toning headpieces of roses and veiling and carried pink and white carnation bouquets.

Lynn Trickett was flower girl in a pink nylon over taffeta frock and flowered headband. White and pink carnations were in her colonial bouquet.

Ronald Trickett was best man for his brother and ushers were Harry Gill and George Porter.

Allen Reside proposed the toast to his niece's happiness

at a reception held in the Wallace Room at Holyrood House. Head table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake and decorated with pink roses. Guests' tables were arranged with pink candles and carnations. Pink gladioli decorated the room.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to be spent touring the western states and the interior of British Columbia, the bride donned a pure silk sheath and jacket in pink tone. Corsage was a gardenia.

Newlyweds will make their home at 4899 Cordova Bay Road.

All-Candidate Meeting Outdraws Party Leaders

COURTENAY — An all-candidate meeting here Wednesday night drew more interest than any other political meeting of the current federal election campaign.

The Jaycee-sponsored forum attracted more than 500 persons, three times the number which turned out to meet Lester Pearson during his Courtenay visit in May.

Liberal Bill Moore said the Liberal, Social Credit, NDP and Communist candidates debated such issues as "funny money," the Columbia River treaty, two-party government, and U.S. "economic domination of Canada."

Liberal Bill Moore said the Canadian people must choose between either "progressive or reactionary" governments.

"It is undemocratic and unrealistic to have anything other than a two-party system," he said. "Neither the Liberals nor Progressive Conservatives will be satisfied with a minority government."

He drew cat calls and laughter when he referred to "Mike" Pearson as "the greatest Canadian."

MONEY NOT FUNNY

Social Crediter Jack Elmer said his party would completely wipe out federal debt in 28 years by bringing the control of currency and credit under parliamentary jurisdiction.

Referring to "funny money," he said "there is nothing funny about saving the taxpayers more than half of their present interest payments."

Tom Barnett of the NDP attacked Premier Bennett's stand on the Columbia River treaty.

Bennett has thrown sand into the gears of the treaty ever since negotiations began," he said.

In spite of New Democratic Party threats of legal action, Communist candidate Mark

Vote Can Settle Hillcrest Issue

DUNCAN — A government-supervised vote will be taken at the Court House here Friday between 3 and 8 p.m. on a proposition which, if approved by a majority, could see the idle Hillcrest Lumber Co. Ltd. logging operations back at work Monday.

The vote was ordered by Labour Minister Leslie Peterson, who has the authority for this type of action under terms of the Labor Relations Act.

Although terms were agreed on Tuesday by union and management officials, it was decided that they would be mailed to the 88 loggers concerned, and that they would not be revealed to the public until after delivery.

FOUR-POINT PLAN

Designed to end the five-month work stoppage caused at the Hillcrest operation by cessation of its free bus service Jan. 2, they are:

1. That a five-man committee discuss the transportation problem and make a recommendation on or before Sept. 30, for a permanent solution.

1. UNEMPLOYMENT record alone should defeat Conservative government June 18. B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault said at Port Alberni Wednesday. He told a campaign meeting that Canada is in trouble and "B.C. is in serious trouble" as a result of government policies. He said pegging of the Canadian dollar was the result of lack of confidence in the Canadian economy.

2. FOUR-POINT PLAN

3. All men will retain their seniority, and no discrimination will be shown.

4. The company will not take legal action against Local 1-80, IWA, or its president, Weldon C. Jubenville, if at all, after the committee has made its report.

If the vote fails, then the company is free to proceed at any time against the union local and its president for violation of the master agreement binding both parties. The company was given permission to prosecute following a Labor Relations Board hearing in Vancouver several weeks ago.

The company's Duncan bus service will be resumed, but the union has demanded that the second bus, operating from Lake Cowichan, also be reinstated.

Mr. Jubenville already has announced that he will advise the men to vote "no" on the proposal.

The committee will consist of two union men, two company officials, and a chairman appointed by the minister.

2. All the men will return to work if the proposition wins a majority vote.

3. All men will retain their seniority, and no discrimination will be shown.

HIGH A-TEST DANGER TO SPACE FLIGHTS?

LONDON (Reuters)—Mstislav Keldysh, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, believes high-altitude nuclear blasts may set off intense artificial radiation belts that would make space flights impossible for some time, the Soviet news agency Tass reported Wednesday.

Keldysh said the study of the ionosphere, radiation belts, short wave emissions from the sun, magnetic disturbances, and radio wave propagation had shown these processes were closely linked.

"Any artificial disturbance of these phenomena in outer space might be extremely dangerous," he said.

PHILIP:

'Efficiency... or Tyranny?'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Delegates to the Second Commonwealth Study Conference leave for home today, carrying with them this message from Prince Philip:

"It is up to people like you to make certain that mankind retains responsibility for and control of his environment and does not let the world slide into a state of confusion merely for lack of thought or foresight."

Prince Philip, president of the conference, made this remark in a 20-minute speech Wednesday to the 300 conference delegates at the University of British Columbia.

The 25-day travelling seminar, in search of means to aid in deciding "the human consequences of the changing industrial environment," carried delegates across Canada, into industries, communities and homes.

"Whatever use you make of the experience," Prince Philip

City Man Wins $2,900 Award At University

Washington State University at Pullman announced today that David A. Boag of Victoria has been awarded a $2,900 fellowship for study toward his doctorate in zoology.

Mr. Boag, 28, is the eldest son of Mrs. T. A. Boag, 4528 Stratford. He formerly attended Tillicum Elementary, Mount View High School, and Victoria College before obtaining a BA and his Masters from the University of Alberta.

The award was one of three assistantships given by the university for academic proficiency.

Mr. Boag plans to teach at the college level and do research in zoology. He was an assistant professor and lecturer at the University of Alberta, and has also spent seven weeks doing research at the Naples Biological Station on jellyfish.

Shipping Men Discuss Trends At City Parley

Representatives of 23 shipping companies operating between West Coast ports and European countries met in the Empress Hotel Wednesday as delegates to the Pacific Coast European Conference.

"Our job is to hammer out future policies in the light of changing trends and developments," said Gordon Hay, assistant chairman of the association, which has its headquarters in Seattle.

General freight rates in relation to current shipping costs are being discussed at the conference.

Three Canadian companies represented are Anglo-Canadian Shipping, Canadian Transport and Seaboard Shipping.

From Seattle are representatives of Blue Star Lines, Royal Mail Ltd. and Fruit Express Ltd. The majority come from firms in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

J. F. McArt, San Francisco, is chairman at the two-day conference.

Wharves to Stay At Horseshoe Bay

It would be costly and difficult to relocate B.C. government ferry wharves at Horseshoe Bay, as requested by a local planning committee, ferry manager Monty Aldous said today.

The committee has written to the government asking it to move the wharves nearer Squamish because in 20 years Horseshoe Bay "will become nothing but a big ferry dock."

It also protested night whistle blowing and charged that ferry captains are ignoring small craft in the area.

Ferries from Nanaimo, Bowen Island and Langdale come into Horseshoe Bay.

Mr. Aldous said it would not only be "extremely costly" to move the wharves, but also difficult to find another suitable location.

He said the ferry traffic situation is very little different from previous years, when Black Ball ran private services there. There is more frequent service to Bowen Island and Langdale, though.

Mr. Aldous also said his captains are not ignoring small craft, although they could sometimes be "difficult" because of inexperienced crews.

"If they were ignoring them, some of them would be at the bottom of the ocean by now," he said.

FORMER New York vice lord, Charles (Lucky) Luciano died of a heart attack last Jan. 26, an official Italian medical report says. At the time of his death in Naples there were New York reports that Luciano might have been poisoned to seal his lips, or taken poison to escape rearrest. Luciano was being shadowed by Italian narcotics agents.

POLITICAL PROPAGANDA — COLDWELL

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — The Canadian bill of rights "is the smoothest piece of political propaganda, without any valid basis in fact, that I have ever seen," M. J. Coldwell said Wednesday night.

As the Conference ended, Prince Philip, who spawned the idea and held the first conference in 1956, said it had "brought a new life and a new meaning to the Commonwealth idea, to a great many people."

He said Canada had taught many lessons, perhaps the most important of which was that "a high standard of living does not insulate communities from the harsh problems of industrialization which are experienced in every part of the Commonwealth."

Today Prince Philip was to fly with many of the delegates to Toronto, from where he was to go to New York for a dinner address tonight before departure for London.

HER HEART BELONGS TO DADDY

Whenever Daddy's away from home, the very nicest moment in Debbie's whole day comes around 7:15 p.m. That's the time when Daddy always phones long distance - from Calgary, Winnipeg, Toronto or wherever he happens to be visiting.

Do you keep in touch with the family regularly when you're absent on business trips? It brings so much happiness and reassurance to hearts like Debbie's. And it costs so little.

After 6 p.m. each evening (and all day Sunday) long distance rates drop by about one quarter. Vancouver to Regina, for example, can cost as little as $1.65.

Why not call them tonight, when long distance rates are lower?

WORK by mental patients is displayed to Canadian Mental Health Association president, W. R. Howard.

by Sister Mary Beatrice, co-chairman of volunteer workers group.

VOLUNTEERS TAKE COURSE

Friends for 'Disturbed'

The Royal Jubilee Hospital observation ward can be a lonely place for the mentally disturbed.

Visiting is permitted, of course, but many of the patients have few friends, and personality-disturbing depression and disinterest can set in when one is lonely.

Officials of the Canadian Mental Health Association hope that they can correct the situation this summer, however, through a special volunteer program that is designed to provide social contact for the patients.

A total of 28 volunteers, graduates of a special four-month course this winter that culminated in a dinner at the White Cross Centre, 799 Lampson, on Wednesday, will either go into direct work with the patients or auxiliary work starting soon.

CD Publications

New Civil Defence publications available at Victoria CD headquarters, 1810 Blanshard, include:

"Survival in Likely Target Areas," "A Family Blast Shelter" and "A 30-Person Blast Shelter."

Also available are the earlier pamphlets, "11 Steps to Survival" and "Simpler Fall-out Shelters."

Co-ordinator V. S. Godfrey said pickup must be in person; copies will not be mailed.

what happens to the hot water
in the summer?

Once the furnace is off for the summer, do you have to put on a fire, and wait, every time you want hot water for baths, or laundry, or dishes? If so, it's time for you to enquire about an automatic gas or electric hot water heater.

The cost of providing automatic hot water averages a few cents per person per day. There's a just-right size for your family's requirements.

See your appliance dealer or plumber.

Labor Protests Dollar-Hit Cost of Living

The high cost of living for B.C.'s workingmen was protested to provincial and federal governments Wednesday night by Victoria Labor Council.

Announced hikes in the price of bread and gasoline started objections rolling.

They instructed secretary W. Toone to write a "plain statement to the prime minister and the premier of British Columbia outlining the facts."

Mr. Toone asked if they wished to protest devaluation itself, which, he said, caused price increases in monopoly industries. He suggested a simple protest against the cost of living to the working man, just now regaining his feet after lengthy unemployment.

One delegate wanted to register his objection to the increased price of coffee to 15 cents in some Victoria restaurants.

"If you're going to do that, we might as well include my Irish sweepstakes ticket. It's gone up, too," a delegate remarked.

Allan Pinkerton, founder of the detective agency in the U.S. who died in 1884, was born at Glasgow, Scotland.

FIRE RAGE

OAS Resumes Terror Wave

(Times News Services)

ALGIERS—The European Secret Army renewed its terror campaign here today after a seven-day truce, mowing down Moslems, burning down the main building of Algiers University and setting fire to the town hall and police station in a suburb.

Three phosphorous bombs started a fire in the science and medicine building of Algiers University, Algeria's main seat of learning.

The blaze was brought under control two hours after it started. The main building, with its laboratories and libraries, was destroyed, but the blaze was kept from spreading to adjacent buildings.

It was the most spectacular city fire in the Secret Army's efforts to turn Algeria into "scorched earth" before the Moslems take over an independent Algeria this summer.

In the afternoon police reported the town hall and police station of the El Biar suburb were set afire.

Earlier today, European Terrorists struck at groups of Moslems with pistol and machine-gun attacks, killing four. Two post offices were robbed.

Ten Secret Army men in paratroop uniforms Wednesday night set fire to the accounts departments of a post office. They also planted two plastic charges.

HIT TERRORISTS

In the western city of Oran, never affected by the truce, police announced that seven Secret Army men were killed and five captured Wednesday. Troops backed by armor sealed off the centre of the city while police searched house-to-house for a clandestine radio.

The renewed terrorism followed the lifting of week-long truce Tuesday midnight, which marked the apparent collapse of efforts to reach a reconciliation between the Secret Army, which violently opposes Algerian independence, and the Moslem-led executive ruling Algeria until the July 1 self-determination referendum.

In the first attack, police said, Europeans in a speeding car machine-gunned a group of Moslem workers in the Hussein-Day suburb, killing three.

The fourth victim, in a separate attack, was a Moslem newspaper vendor.

REACH IMPASSE

The Secret Army announced the ending of the week-old truce in a pirate radio broadcast.

The announcer, who identified himself as the high command spokesman, said negotiations between representatives of the Moslem and European communities had reached an impasse.

"We are again taking up war—particularly in the economic field," the announcer said.

He advised women, children and older Europeans to leave Algeria to "free the men for the scorched earth policy."

'Lost' for Seven Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—A man who disappeared seven years ago turned up Wednesday before a federal grand jury investigating his relations with Teamsters' Union president James Hoffa.

He is David Probstin, former St. Louis lawyer who set up a taxi business in Indianapolis in 1954 with money furnished by Hoffa.

There was no immediate word on where Probstin had been since he disappeared June 6, 1955. He refused to talk to reporters.

Laos Leaders Make Progress

PLAIN OF JARS, Laos (Reuters)—The three Laotian faction leaders have agreed on allocation of the key defence and interior ministries, main stumbling block in the formation of a coalition government, it was announced here today.

The announcement was made by neutralist chief Prince Souvanna Phouma after the first meeting in the third attempt by the three leaders to set up a coalition regime.

Souvanna was meeting in this left-held area of central Laos with right-wing Premier Prince Bouy Oum and pro-Communist Pathet Lao leader Prince Souphanouvong.

Souvanna said they had four major points on which they had to reach agreement before formation of the coalition was assured. He declined to specify.

Souvanna, who would be premier, said the unresolved issues will "have to remain vague for the present." He said he, Bouy and Souphanouvong were "anxious" to reach complete agreement as soon as possible.

Red 'Feud' On Agenda?

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Communist economic summit conference ended today after two days of talks between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and the leaders of six Soviet bloc nations.

Albania was banned from the conference and its ally in the ideological dispute with Moscow, Communist China, did not send its usual observer delegation.

The absence of China and Albania indicated that the Moscow-Peking feud occupied a high place on the agenda, alongside the economic problems for which the conference was called.

U.S. Troops Charged With Attacks

SEOUL—South Korean newspapers today reported new incidents involving attacks on Koreans by United States soldiers. The stories followed a demonstration here Wednesday by about 1,000 South Koreans protesting the beating of an alleged thief by two U.S. Army lieutenants.

The Kyunghyang Shinmun said U.S. Army authorities and national police are investigating the beating of a Korean woman by a soldier of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division near Paju, 25 miles northwest of Seoul, Wednesday night.

The paper did not give the circumstances.

The Seoul Shinmun said a U.S. airman set a sentry Red on a Korean farmer May 30 near Pyongyang, 30 miles south of Seoul, because he thought the man had stolen military goods. The paper said the farmer was bitten 30 times by the dog. The Korean was caught attempting to steal lumber, and the dog was released when he ignored a challenge to halt.

The South Korean government arrested 283 of the students who marched on the U.S. embassy by the colonel-in-chief of the regiment was complete today in Seoul despite a ban on demonstrations. All but 10 were released.

The students were demanding conclusion of an American-South Korean status-of-forces agreement.

2 Executed Jouhaud Still Waits

PARIS (AP)—Two Secret Army killers were executed at dawn today—the first to be sent before a firing squad—but former General Edmond Jouhaud remained in the death row he had shared with them.

The fate of Jouhaud, 57, deputy commander of the underground terrorist army, still rested with President de Gaulle. There was an indication de Gaulle would spare his life.

Southeast of Paris at Fort du Trou d'Enfer (Hell Hole Fort) rifle volleys followed by two pistol shots—the customary coup de grace—rang out at 4:12 a.m. They brought death to Albert Dovecar, 37, a former sergeant in the Foreign Legion, and Claude Piegl, 27, a civilian.

Dovecar and Piegl refused blindfolds as they faced the firing squad.

"Aim at the heart," shouted Piegl. Just before the shots rang out he cried: "Vive l'Algérie Francaise" (Long live French Algeria).

"Vive l'Autriche (Austria)! Vive la Legion!" Dovecar shouted.

Dovecar and Piegl were stabbed to death Police Commissioner Roger Gavouri in Algiers a few weeks before Jouhaud openly turned traitor as a leader of the abortive generals revolt in April, 1961.

Jouhaud was captured last March and condemned to death.

The French cabinet discussed Jouhaud's case at a meeting Wednesday. A spokesman said de Gaulle told the cabinet men and events should be judged from the viewpoint of the nation's higher interests. This was generally construed as an indication that the president was leaning toward sparing Jouhaud.

The New Democratic Party leader spoke to an audience of 1,500 in Exhibition Auditorium, just a few yards from the border between the twin Lakewood cities of Port Arthur and Fort William.

It was his third standing-room-only crowd in as many nights, following up successful meetings at Glace Bay, N.S. and Peterborough, Ont.

He made a plea for the re-election of Douglas Fisher in Port Arthur riding and the victory of Ted Freeman, NDP candidate in Liberal-held Fort William.

Mr. Douglas said President Kennedy is facing "the bitter cratic Party."

Rusk Going to Berlin During Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the first time since taking office, Secretary of State Dean Rusk will pay a visit to Berlin during a 10-day European trip later this month, the state department announced today.

One of the main purposes of Rusk's trip is to discuss differences in allied policy and cold-war tactics that have cropped up lately. However, state department spokesman Lincoln White said he would not call it a "fence mending" mission.

Using $ As Excuse For Profit

MAGOG, Que. (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today "drastic action" may be taken by the government against any corporation taking advantage of the recent devaluation of the dollar to raise its prices in Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker, addressing a luncheon rally here, did not say what kind of action is being considered.

He said there are "some greedy people" who are using the dollar devaluation as "an excuse to raise their prices."

"I don't want any group—powerful as it may be—to think that they can use an action taken for the benefit of all Canada for their own advantage," he said.

He said government action will be as effective as it will be drastic.

If this sort of thing is going on, he said, action will be taken "in the next few days."

VITAL ISSUE

Douglas Raps Medical Body

BY BEN WARD

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Tommy Douglas levelled an angry broadside at the Canadian Medical Association Wednesday night, declaring that it is interfering with the rights of the public by battling the trend towards a tax-backed Canadian medical insurance plan.

He likened this to the opposition which he said the Canadian Medical Association and the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons are putting up against Saskatchewan's medical care bill.

"These two groups have gone so far as to try to prevent the recruitment of doctors from Britain willing to participate in the Saskatchewan plan," said Mr. Douglas, who as premier of Saskatchewan laid the groundwork for the plan.

But the doctors had not been able to present a united front. He knew personally of "hundreds of doctors" who supported the Saskatchewan proposal.

Four of them were NDP candidates in the federal election, dedicated to a national medical care program proposed by the firm.

The Victoria increases are in line with general nationwide increases announced by the firms.

Imperial Oil Ltd., Shell Oil of Canada Ltd., Home Oil Ltd. and Standard Oil of B.C. Ltd., all with outlets in Victoria, have not yet committed themselves to price rises, although Shell hiked its Vancouver area prices by one cent Tuesday.

However, people in the industry—both distributors and retail dealers—expected that the remaining firms would follow suit within a few days.

AWAIT NEW PRICES

Dealers said that retail prices would go up at least the amount of the wholesale increase immediately. Stocks of gasoline at new prices were received.

Majority of Texaco, BA and Royalite stations have already posted new prices ranging from as low as 45.6 cents, for regular gasoline to 50.1 cents, for premium.

In many cases, in order to keep gasoline out of the 50-cent price bracket and because only the latest model pumps register higher than 49.9 cents, service stations are trimming the better than 4-cent difference.

WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE DONE?

WHITE ROCK, S.D. (UPI)—Farmer Norman Doll had only seconds to decide.

Doll, father of 10, was planting a field at his farm near here Wednesday. His son and a neighbor girl were seated on the bank of a creek, dangling their feet in the stream.

He heard cries and glanced over toward the creek. The boy had given way, dropping the two children into the water.

In the stream, swollen to 7-foot depth by heavy rains, Doll saw his son, Dennis, 11, and a neighbor girl, Judy Lehman, 14, struggling for their lives.

Doll never hesitated.

He raced to the stream, dove into the water and swam to the girl. The farmer towed her to safety.

Then Doll returned to the stream for his son. But the swift-moving water had closed over the boy's head and swept his body down stream.

Jerry drowned.

Fisher said he had dated Miss Prowse three times and described her as "a wonderful girl, we're great friends."

On his plans for divorce, Fisher said attorney Louis Nizer, counsel for both himself and Miss Taylor, had advised that Fisher file for divorce, while he is appearing in Nevada this summer.

Fisher will establish residence while appearing at Sinatra's Cal Neva Lodge in Lake Tahoe and also at Las Vegas, a friend said.

"I'll file so Liz can counterfile and win on grounds of mental cruelty," Fisher explained. He said that in this way Miss Taylor would be able to remain in Europe and emphasized that he was going through with the first filing as "the only solution."

CLAREMONT, N.C.—Burton Grant has resigned as the only police officer in this town of 750 population.

He called it quits after the board of commissioners wanted him to haul garbage and cut the town's grass. Grant said he already had enough duties. These included:

Reading water meters, checking the town pumps each morning, doing some street repairing and hauling gravel for the streets.

Grant's salary was $74.50 a week.

ST. ALBANS—Bachelor Charlie Hand, 41, is getting tired of having women phone him to ask for advice on birth control and family planning.

The trouble began when a post office official notified Hand that his number had been changed.

The phone immediately started ringing.

It turned out that the family planning clinic here had the same number.

"Mothers ring me all day. Some don't seem to believe me when I try to explain that it's a bachelor flat with no family planning department," Hand complained.

"I wish they would stop pestering me. I can't give any advice on family planning."

WOONSOCKET, R.I.—A junior crime wave of adult proportions was reported by Woonsocket police, to have been solved. Wednesday with the arrests of three youths, 13 to 14 years old. They were alleged to have committed 72 thefts and acts of vandalism in which losses totalled thousands of dollars.

As the youths were being led from the police station, after questioning, to be taken to family court, a policeman noticed a bulge in one of the boy's pockets.

Out came a small transistor radio belonging to one of the sergeants who had questioned the boy.

MOSCOW—Guy Burgess, British diplomat who defected to Russia in 1951, indicated today he is living under communism on money resulting from capital-type investments.

Burgess returned here Wednesday from a six-week vacation in the Soviet Union. In an interview he enjoyed a laugh over questions raised last month in the British Parliament which confirmed that he had emigrant status and was able to have money transferred to Russia.

"I really have no idea what I have got my money in. Everything is looked after by my trustees. In any case I have never been interested in money."

He said that before the war he bought Rolls Royce shares "as I could see a war was coming and was the next best thing to buying arms shares—they paid a handsome profit."

He said after the war he bought gold shares because "inflation was a certainty. I also did well out of that."

Chinese Reds Order Land Back to Farmers

PEKING (UPI)—The Chinese Communists Wednesday ordered a review of capital construction plans and told builders and factories to return land to farmers.

An editorial in the People's Daily, organ of the Communist party, called on administrators to make new surveys of land requisitioned for building. Builders' sheds should be razed.

Japan to Hike China Trade

HALIFAX (CP)—The Japanese ambassador to Canada said today there are signs that Japanese trade with Communist China will increase.

Nihonkai Ushiba said in an interview China was once a traditional market for Japan but trade between the two Asian countries now is small. Japan does not formally recognize the Communist government.

He said he does not think Canada's wheat sales to Communist China are a threat to Japan's trade chances.

'SPLIT THE VOTE' PLAN CHARGED BY HELLYER

TORONTO (CP)—Paul Hellyer, Liberal candidate in Toronto Trinity, said today the campaign of an 11th-hour Independent candidate in the riding is financed entirely by the Conservative party.

He said Peter D'Agostino, a laundry operator, filed nomination papers shortly before the deadline on Monday afternoon "to split the vote."

Mr. D'Agostino denied this. He said his aim is to represent the Italian-Canadians in the riding.

He was a Liberal supporter until 1957 when he joined the Conservatives. Mr. D'Agostino said he decided to stand as an Independent after he was passed over at nomination time.

Public Apathy To Navy Stressed

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Saint John, N.B., said in an annual convention of the interview Wednesday night Naval Officers' Association of Canada has "a damn fine navy, but the trouble is we haven't got enough of it."

He said the association will strive to bring home to the public the realization the Canadian navy has again resumed its role as the first line of defence.

"Our logical enemy is Russia and they are building conventional-powered submarines at the rate of 70 a month—with a goal of 600 by the end of 1962."

"We are predominantly an anti-submarine navy and are equipped to counteract any submarines directed towards Canada."

"We are short in numbers, however—we have 43 anti-submarine vessels, 13 on the west coast and 30 on the east coast."

"This total was reached in 1958 and the new ships the government has announced—the general purpose frigates—are not intended as additions but to replace vessels that are obsolete."

Numerically, he said, "we are being overpowered by the Russian fleet. Twenty per cent of the Russian submarines are of the missile-carrying variety."

"However, our navy today is equipped to stop these subs before they surface and fire missiles against us."

Mr. Gregory said the navy gets only 18 per cent of the defence budget, "a very poor slice of the pie for our first line of defence."

ADVERSE BREAKS

Against these adverse breaks in the luck of the campaign, the Diefenbaker government has had the advantage of the large head start with which it entered the race. At dissolution of the last parliament, it held 203 seats. That means it could lose 70 and still remain in power.

In addition, the administration could boast of very solid goodwill among the farmers of the western prairies. This had been earned by its policy of large-scale wheat sales to Communist China, which had solved the national problem of grain surpluses and made it possible for western growers to produce up to capacity once more.

To many Parliament Hill observers the campaign has the atmosphere of the 1953 election when a Liberal sweep toppled former Conservative Prime Minister R. B. Bennett from power after five years in office. The main difference that observers profess to note is that a strong measure of public goodwill and respect toward Bennett was apparent throughout the campaign and restrained it from turbulent excesses.

By contrast Diefenbaker has been meeting, they say, with far greater personal hostility.

SEX OFFENDER RETURNED TO COLOQUITZ MENTAL HOME

A provincial government order-in-council was read out by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today committing a man charged with indecent assault to the provincial mental home at Colquitz "until complete or partial recovery is certified."

The Crown had sought the order for the man who was seen to molest a 4-year-old girl near Beacon Hill Park on May 26.

He has been a patient at the Wilkinson Road hospital for the past five years, and was on a weekend pass at the time of the offence.

HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

No children of any country have a corner on brains, courtesy or ability, says Mrs. M. D. Touchings, who teaches a class of 44 New Canadians at George Jay School.

"Children are children the world over and they are as fun-loving and as full of mischief in one country as another."

With Mrs. C. W. Dibb, Mrs. Touchings has been engaged in this specialized work for many years, and in retrospect, she says:

"Some will settle quietly into the routine of the classroom and, though they do not understand right away what is said, they do not interrupt."

"Others demand attention from the first and, if they cannot say what they want to, they attract by other means..."

The remarkable thing is that, while there are devout persons like Mrs. Touchings and Mrs. Dibb who have a broad vision of Canada as a blend of many races, there are mean little nationalists who ask:

"Why should we spend money teaching these foreigners to speak English?"

Over in London Frank Hellwell of Oak Bay ventured into one of those remarkable fur sales the Hudson's Bay Company holds at its famous Beaver Hall.

He records that the buyers gabbled in Yiddish, French and Japanese as "a million furs went under the hammer."

"The whole fur world does its business here," says Frank. "And I was tempted to have a go. But what would I do with 10,000 musquash?"

Surveying the grim deserted hulk of the old courthouse on Bastion Square, it never occurred to me that anyone would want to break in, until I read the threatening notice:

Unauthorized persons found on these premises will be prosecuted, and no person may remove any article from within without the consent of the purchasing commission—

G. E. P. Jones, chairman.

I wonder what there is to remove?

Only 25 per cent of the people who visit the Royal London Wax Museum avoid the Chamber of Horrors, says Arthur Batty, vice-president in charge.

"Most of them enjoy it," he said. "but now and then you see a grandma go in ahead of the children to make sure it isn't too awful for them to see."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Two Victorians split a $1,000 prize today in the Victoria Road, was convicted in city police court today of stealing $5 worth of groceries from a Quadra Street supermarket June 4.

Court was told he had picked up the articles, placed them in his coat and walked out without paying for them, although paying for some other articles he had in his hand.

Mayor R. B. Wilson left by air this morning for Winnipeg, to attend the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities' silver jubilee convention next week.

In city police court today: Michael Edens, 2959 Irma St. and licence suspended for careless driving.

Audrey H. Parsons, 2607 Wark, $25 for no driver's licence.

Irene Marshall, 2050 Chaucer, $10 for failing to notify change of address.

Raymond William Larson, 3282 Whittier, $10 for no safety chain on trailer.

Retired Members Group of the St. John Ambulance will meet on Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the summer home of Miss G. Hewlings, Patricia Bay. Members are asked to bring picnic lunches and details of transportation will be given on request.

About 100 retired Victoria civic employees will benefit by a long-awaited boost in superannuation payments recommended by city finance committee today.

The city will take advantage of a 50-50 cost sharing scheme introduced this year by the provincial government, which increases small civic pensions for those who retired before 1957.

Some Victoria pensions are as low as $35 a month, finance committee was told.

Annual cost to the city will be $10,000.

"Let's give them a little help while they are still here to help," Ald. J. L. W. McLean said.

A 21-gun Royal Salute will be fired at Victoria International Airport June 13 by the 5th (B.C.) Medium Artillery battery, marking the arrival of The Princess Royal for her visit to Victoria.

THREE MINISTERS RUNNING B.C.

Cabinet Meets in 'Back Room'

A three-man B.C. cabinet was forced to meet today for the first time in a "back room" at the Legislative Buildings.

There are only three ministers here, because everyone else is away campaigning from Quebec to Vancouver Island for Social Credit in the federal election.

The regular cabinet chamber could not be used because of spring cleaning—the floors are freshly varnished.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, Works Minister W. N. Chant and Health Minister Eric Martin, left in Victoria to run the province's business, had to meet in the Social Credit MLAs' room at the other end of the corridor.

Mr. Martin said it was the first time he could recall Victoria cabinet meeting had not been held in the official chamber.

There is no quorum required for the cabinet, but orders in council require two signatures a presiding member and one other.

IN THE EAST

Half the cabinet is in Eastern Canada: Premier Bennett is in Nova Scotia, Attorney-General Robert Bonner and Education Minister Leslie Peterson in Quebec and Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi in Ontario.

The rest are in B.C.: Forests

NOSE SURGERY FOR 2 SHIPS

Two of the four ships in the RCN's Pacific command mine-sweeping squadron are scheduled for major "nose" operations.

HMC Ships Fortune and James Bay, both Bay class, wooden-hulled 'sweepers, are to have new stems installed during their regular biennial refit.

"This is mainly the fault of Central Mortgage and Housing, the federal government housing authority," in the opinion of Fred Thornton Hollingsworth, architect for Victoria's Imperial Motel.

"Integrity is one of the deepest qualities in a human being; so it should be in a building," Hollingsworth said in an interview.

Newest, Falsest'

"But due to CMHA, most homes being built today in Victoria are part of the motif, the latest, the newest, the falsest."

"CMHA are the real propagators of our slums. By their cookie-stamp designs they contribute to this sense of mass conformity which plagues both Victorians and Canadians in general."

Hollingsworth gave as an example the typical low-rent apartment buildings so often backed by CMHA. He said it is almost certain they eventually will become slums.

"It's just a matter of time. There's no planning, no privacy, no respect for human beings. It's merely accommodation of the most meager quality."

Chinatown Loss

Hollingsworth, who makes his home in Vancouver, also felt it a great shame that Victoria's Chinatown has been condemned.

"A half-baked park plaza is slated to take the place of Victoria's historic Chinatown. Those buildings might just as easily be renovated inside so that the charm and history of their exterior could be preserved."

The present trend of architecture is merely to build boxes, filing cabinets for human beings, that restrict freedom of mind and soul and submerge the man as an individual, he continued.

Dedication Needed

He said that most of the present apartment projects around Victoria do nothing for the dignity of their tenants, even at the rental rates they are proudly defend. He focused the blame for this on the influence CMHA has over such projects.

"CMHA should be changed from a money-lending or approval agency, that functions more as a police force, and with about as much imagination as one, to a research organization, concerned with the environment of man and dedicated to producing it at the highest possible economic level."

Democracy as a form of self-government depends on the strength and integrity of the individual, the architect said. "This is the field in which residential architecture can be made effective and contributive."

I disagree with you," Ald. Arthur Dowell, committee chairman, replied.

"It would be a real hardship on employers who have union agreements with employees requiring them to pay extra wages for working that day."

STORES AGAINST

Ald. Dowell pointed out that retail merchants also are opposed to a holiday. They claim the loss in tourist trade would be too great.

"We only have a centennial every hundred years and I'm fond of creating a real holiday spirit," the mayor said.

"I'll support it," Ald. J. L. W. MacLean added.

Committed to turn the question over to city council without a recommendation in view of the objection.

They are all electioneering.

Schools, Police Act Against Sex Deviates

Plan Joint Effort To Protect Pupils

Protection of pupils in Greater Victoria from sex offenders will be increased by a program involving school officials and local police, it was learned today.

In accordance with a plan submitted by the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation, the Greater Victoria School Board at a recent meeting agreed to conduct a survey in school district 61 to enable the establishment of centres for treatment of offenders against public morals.

School principals in the district are at present answering a questionnaire giving the incidence, frequency and type of sex offences involving pupils within their area. Offences include molesting of children and exhibitionism.

FACTS DISTRIBUTED

The information, once collected, will be forwarded to the parent-teacher federation to support a representation to the provincial government urging the establishment of treatment centres. Reports will also be made available to the board.

At present Mrs. A. B. Thompson, representing the Greater Victoria Parent Teacher Council, is in Vancouver attending a workshop to draft details of the resolution.

At the same time, Victoria Jaycees have procured a film which will be presented to Mrs. Thompson as chairman of the school board, to be shown to local pupils.

"It is not a frightening film," she added.

AWARE OF PROBLEM

She quoted Dr. C. E. Maffay, schools health officer, as saying she was aware that the problem existed in the area. The school board has not yet decided which grades the film should be shown to for a few days before they can greet their favorite star in person.

The candlelight pianist, a Century 21 attraction, was to appear here at the Royal Theatre June 15. However, word was received by Famous Artists this morning that Liberace had suffered a fall in his garage and injured a hand.

Many of his concert engagements have been cancelled but the artist plans to fulfill the Seattle-Vancouver-Victoria appearances and will play here June 27.

Tickets sold for June 15 will be honored on the later date.

Debt Counsellor Appointed To Help Harried Citizens

A full-time debt counsellor has been appointed by the Victoria Credit Granters Association to advise people who find themselves in financial troubles through sickness, unemployment or unwise buying.

In addition to counselling, Mr. Wilson's duties will include the setting up of "pooled" accounts in which clients debts are consolidated and available income after basic living expenses is paid to creditors on a pro rata basis.

All costs of the program are paid by the association which has more than 450 member firms in the city.

Mr. Johnston said that response to the program which was started last January had been heavy, "indicating that the association is providing a very important service to the community."

At the present time applications for assistance are coming in at the rate of from two to five a day.

FINAL BULLETINS

Queen Mother Greeted at Montreal

A third oil company entered the Victoria gasoline price increase scene today.

Royalite Oil Co. Ltd. announced that its price to dealers had been increased by seventh-tenths of a cent a gallon—the same as the boost announced Wednesday by Texaco Canada Ltd. and British American Oil Co.

The Victoria increases are in line with general nationwide increases announced by the firms.

Imperial Oil Ltd., Shell Oil of Canada Ltd., Home Oil Ltd. and Standard Oil of B.C. Ltd., all with outlets in Victoria, have not yet committed themselves to price rises, although Shell hiked its Vancouver area prices by one cent Tuesday.

However, people in the industry—both distributors and retail dealers—expected that the remaining firms would follow suit within a few days.

AWAIT NEW PRICES

Dealers said that retail prices would go up at least the amount of the wholesale increase immediately stocks of gasoline at new prices were received.

Majority of Texaco, B-A and Royalite stations have already posted new prices ranging from as low as 45.8 cents for regular gasoline to 50.1 cents for premium.

In many cases, in order to keep gasoline out of the 50-cent price bracket and because only the latest model pumps register higher than 49.9 cents, service stations are trimming the better than 4-cent differ-

JFK Pledges Income Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy pledged today to recommend an across-the-board cut in personal and corporation income taxes, to take effect next Jan. 1.

At a press conference, Kennedy prodded Congress to act quickly on other economic measures he has urged.
